R.A.F. Nightfighters Deadly to Nazi Raiders

Men with cat's eyes . . . These men, Canadians are among them, are members of a Beaufighter squadron similar to the one that Thursday night harried Nazi bombers and crashed 11 out of less than 50.

'Beaver Cub' Gets Dornier

11 Nazi Bombers Bagged Over England, France

LONDON (CP)—R.A.F. offensive operations tapered off to armed reconnaissance flights Thursday after eight straight nights of smashing blows at Nazi bases and supply centres, but 11 German bombers were destroyed over England and France, authorities said today.

Three Nazi planes were sent crashing to earth over their French bases, doubtless by British fighters which followed them home or dived over the airfields awaiting their return.

Eight were shot down in scattered attacks along the northeast coast and in eastern England, the government announced, and the ratio of destruction of these raiders far exceeded the goal of 10 per cent set by defending gun and plane crews.

Slingshot Defeat For Germans

"It is difficult to give a figure for the number of enemy aircraft operating, but it probably was well under 50, probably 39," a British source reported. Britons implied that interruption of the aerial offensive against Germany was due to a return of bad weather.

Up to noon today it was reported there was only slight pa-rolling activity over the English Channel in daylight operations. The Nazi forays Thursday night caused some casualties, including a small number of persons killed, but no extensive damage, it was said.

Among the Nazi bombers destroyed Thursday was a Dornier 217, which fell before the blazing guns of a plane piloted by Wing-Comdr. Max Aitken, Lord Beaverbrook's son, leading a Beaufighter squadron. The Dornier 217 is one of the latest type German bombers.

Aitken, whose squadron shot down four raiders during the night, sighted the Dornier 70 or 80 miles out to sea and shot off the starboard wing from such close range that wreckage struck his Beaufighter.

A Czech pilot in Aitken's squadron destroyed two Heinkel 111's out at sea and shared with another pilot of the same squadron in the destruction of a Dornier 217.

An English pilot in a Canadian night fighter squadron got a Junkers off the northeast coast.

New Bombing Duel 'Unpopular' With Nazis

The London Daily Mail's correspondent in Geneva reported today that a Berlin dispatch to the Journal de Genève, passed by the German censor, said:

"It is semi-officially stated here that Germany will call off the bombing of English towns if the R.A.F. will change its methods of bombing German cities."

"The Berlin dispatch added that 'the present bombing duel is highly unpopular with the German people,' the correspondent said.

An authoritative British source, commenting on the Daily Mail's story, said "we are going after those blighters wherever they are and at every chance we get, and that is final."

He said there had been no official or semi-official feelers intended to coax Britain into an agreement to stop bombing German towns in return for like security.

Home Secretary Herbert Morrison declared in a speech at Shoreditch that Hitler's "guide book blitz" bombings of Britain's historical monuments were the "frenzied blows of a mad lout who, stung by the carefully timed and aimed blows of a cool and skilful opponent, loses all self control and runs amok."

"What he tried to do and failed to do with overwhelming superiority in the night sky a year ago, he cannot hope to do now that his resources are scattered," Mr. Morrison said.

"The cry of German propagandists that it is up to us to call off our raids to save ourselves shows they know this very well."

Nazi Fliers Say Sunderland Bombed

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The German news agency DNB said today that the English town of Sunderland was heavily raided by German bombers Thursday night.

Schenck Gets Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of 20th Century Fox Film Corporation, was sentenced today to a year and a day in prison on a plea of guilty to perjury immediately after federal court had suspended a previous three-year sentence for income tax evasion.

The court accepted the lesser plea and ordered the suspension of the three-year sentence after the government had said that Schenck had aided the prosecution of Willie Bielt, west coast labor leader, and George E. Browne, former president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, who were convicted of extortion from major movie producers.

Schenck also was placed on probation for three years.

Milling of B.C. Hemlock Logs Grave Issue

By BRUCE HUTCHINSON

OTTAWA—Whether B.C. hemlock logs are to be milled on Puget Sound or in B.C. has become a grave issue here and in Victoria, and must be settled soon.

American interests having purchased large hemlock areas on Vancouver Island now seek free export of logs on the ground they are needed for U.S. war effort. B.C. mill owners reply they fear a shortage of logs themselves.

The problem is fundamental to the future economy of B.C. because the great fir boom of the last half century is now over its peak. Fir operations will decline drastically during the next few years as remaining fir forests are cut. This has long been foreseen by the industry and by forestry officials but they had planned to divert industry into hemlock, of which large forests remain. It is a considerable part of hemlock is to be milled in the United States then B.C. will face a major decline in an industry on which it lives.

Between the pressing demands of American log importers and the B.C. mill industry, B.C. and the federal governments must soon choose.

"They're taking the logs out of British Columbia over our heads," Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said today. "We refused the Americans an export license, but the timber controller of Canada evidently told them to go ahead. Washington apparently got after Ottawa and pointed out Canada was getting lots of things from the States and the States needed our logs in their war industries. That's all very well, of course, but at the same time Powell River, for instance, is going to be short of logs."

"The directors placed on record their appreciation of the outstanding work Sir Edward performed as president during the past 24 years. He brought to the service of the company and its shareholders a rare combination of gifts and qualities, which enabled him to inspire the whole organization with his own zeal and his own devotion to the interests of the property. He was responsible for many improvements in facilities and service; for the rebuilding of the company's mercantile fleet on a scale which made it a source of pride to all Canadians, and he enhanced and enlarged the position of the company in the confidence and regard of the people it serves throughout the world. His administration will be memorable in the history of the company.

LEY ASKS NAZIS TO WORK HARDER

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—Robert Ley, Hitler's lieutenant for labor affairs, appealed to the workers of Germany in a May Day message today to make "a last supreme effort for victory."

Speaking of hardships of the past winter, he asserted, "the high qualities of the German soldiers and their allies have preserved our continent from being overrun by a second wave of vandals which would have meant the end of millions of people."

"It is the duty of all to help the burden of the men at the front and avoid bloodshed as much as possible, for in this war it is not capital, not the dollar or the pound, which will be victorious, but the most industrious and the bravest people."

"It is our sacred duty to get the best weapons and the best munitions in great quantities."

58,000 Nazi Casualties

Red Fleet Sinks German Battleship

MOSCOW (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that a German battleship had been sunk by Russia's Baltic fleet.

This was the first Russian claim of destruction of one of Germany's few capital ships, and came in a resume of operations in which the Baltic fleet was said to have sunk 447 German ships, presumably in the course of the whole war.

The battleship was not identified.

Other German warships which the broadcast said had been destroyed were a cruiser, 16 destroyers, 18 submarines and 18 torpedo boats. Besides these 114 transports were reported sent to the bottom.

Pilots and anti-aircraft gunners of the Baltic fleet were said to have downed 721 enemy planes.

58,000 Nazis Killed Or Wounded in April

In another broadcast the Moscow radio said that during April the German forces on the Leningrad front lost more than 58,000 officers and men, killed and wounded.

During the same period, Soviet troops destroyed 109 guns, 113 trench mortars, 45 tanks, four armored cars, 225 trucks and large quantities of other arms and equipment; the Russian radio added.

Red Star Declares Nazi Drive Out

By EDDY GILMORE

KUIBYSHEV (AP)—The start of May still had brought no major clash on the Russian and German armies, and Red Star declared flatly today that Adolf Hitler's spring offensive was a myth.

The mouthpiece of the Russian army said "no doubt the Germans intended and are intending an offensive, but the Red army has converted its plans into a fable."

Nowhere along the battlefield had fighting, however sharp, developed into the grand scale onslaughts of the first German drive into Soviet territory.

A key to Soviet morale was seen when Russian sniper M. Ivanov told a Leningrad meeting of his fellows that he had killed 123 Germans "as a May Day present for the country," the other sharpshooters forthwith organized a May Day competition to see who would kill the most Germans.

Tanks, Men Captured On Central Front

A routine bulletin said today Red army troops have repulsed several German attacks supported by armored units, killed 300 men, destroyed two Nazi tanks and captured trophies and prisoners on a central front sector.

The Soviet information bureau said: "Our tank crews are inflicting severe losses on the enemy's manpower and equipment" and the Moscow radio announced a Russian tank brigade previously credited with annihilation of 13,000 invaders, had killed about 1,000 more in fierce fighting on the Kalinin front.

(A Reuters dispatch from Kuibyshev quoted Maj. Gen. M. Zakharov of the Red army as stating persistent Soviet attacks on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, had wrecked Nazi plans for a spring offensive. But he said the Germans are moving up reserves for an attempt at counter-action.)

Sir E. Beatty Quits Presidency Of C.P.R.; Coleman Succeeds

MONTREAL (CP)—Sir Edward Beatty resigned today as president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and was succeeded by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the company. Sir Edward remains chairman of the board.

The official announcement said: "At a meeting of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company held today, Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president, tendered his resignation because of the state of his health."

In an effort to regain his health Sir Edward visited Victoria during January and February this year, and was frequently seen taking long walks in the vicinity of the Empress Hotel where he was a guest.

"Sir Edward was stricken with illness in March, 1941, brought about largely by over-exertion and too close application to his multifarious duties and activities. There has been a marked improvement in recent months, and that improvement, happily, is being maintained; but his doctors have advised him the early and complete recovery can be reached only if he divests himself of some of his burdens and responsibilities. The directors received his decision with deep regret, but agreed that he should not be expected to prejudice his chance of recovery. At their request he will continue to act as chairman of the company, and thus be available for counsel at all times."

CREATED IMPROVEMENTS
"The directors placed on record their appreciation of the outstanding work Sir Edward performed as president during the past 24 years. He brought to the service of the company and its shareholders a rare combination of gifts and qualities, which enabled him to inspire the whole organization with his own zeal and his own devotion to the interests of the property. He was responsible for many improvements in facilities and service; for the rebuilding of the company's mercantile fleet on a scale which made it a source of pride to all Canadians, and he enhanced and enlarged the position of the company in the confidence and regard of the people it serves throughout the world. His administration will be memorable in the history of the company.

During his tenure in office the railway expanded to become known as the world's greatest privately-owned transportation system. Under him Canadian Pacific developed railway, shipping, telegraph and hotel services with expenditures of many millions of dollars.

When Lord Shaughnessy retired from the presidency he offered the post to Sir Edward, who at first refused. Shaughnessy is reported to have exclaimed: "My God, Beatty, do you want to be

One-legged Aussie Awarded D.F.C.

CANBERRA (AP)—Australia's one-legged pilot, Flt. Lt. Bruce Frederick Rose, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for gallantry and skill in operations against the Germans, according to a dispatch today from R.A.F. overseas headquarters. He lost his leg in April, 1941, when forced to bail out of a Blenheim bomber and the limb was struck by a whirling aircrew, mere lawyer all your life," Sir Edward put aside an ambition of becoming a judge and accepted.

Sir Edward was an exponent of a unification program for the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. He wanted the unification to be under private operation. The government decided for co-operation, but with each company maintaining its own management.

Sir Edward was born at Thorold, Ont., in 1877, son of Henry Beatty, Irish founder of the Beatty Steamship Lines operating on the Great Lakes.

Of Irish stock too, Mr. Coleman was born in Carleton Place, Ont., in 1879.

STARTED AT BRAESIDE
His first job was tallyman in a Braeside, Ont., lumber yard at $12 a month. Later he was promoted to stocktaker at $30 a month.

At the age of 18 he became city editor of the Belleville Intelligencer. Two years later he joined the C.P.R. as a clerk at Fort William.

Promotions followed until 1918, less than 20 years after joining the company, when he became vice-president of western lines. Sixteen years later he became Sir Edward's second in command.

No Service Abroad By Australian Militia

CANBERRA (CP)—The House of Representatives today defeated, 31 to 27, a motion by former Prime Minister Arthur Fadden to permit use of the militia outside Australia. It was opposed by Prime Minister John Curtin.

Mr. Curtin said the Australian Imperial Force, or expeditionary corps, eligible for service abroad, was greater in size than ever, and amendment of the act was not necessary.

Wins D.F.M.

LONDON (CP)—Flt. Sgt. Garth Edward Horricks of Toronto, described officially as "a fearless pilot" who destroyed at least three Nazi aircraft, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal. It was announced today.

The citation said the 21-year-old native of Renfrew, Ont., "invariably presses home his attacks with the utmost determination regardless of the odds." In addition to the three confirmed victories, he has probably destroyed a further two.

Sgt. Alvin C. York, seated, outstanding hero of the United States World War I, registers for the 45 to 64 draft, at the same place and the same table in Wolf River, Tenn., where he registered as a conscientious objector in 1917. His pastor, Rev. C. R. Pile, who registered him in 1917, performs the same office in 1942. Sgt. York singlehandedly captured more than 130 Germans, besides killing quite a few, during an encounter in France in 1918.

Canada's Ceylon Heroes Missing

LONDON (CP) - Squadron Leader L. J. Birchall, Saint John, N.B., and W.O. C. Onyette, Hunter Isle, Ont., were named today as among Canada's air heroes who helped thwart the all-out Japanese air attack on Colombo, Ceylon, April 5.

Both were listed as "missing in flying battles," which tells the story of an epic last flight over the Bay of Bengal when they joined battle with a large Japanese force of raiding planes.

The Canadians were part of an air crew which first sighted the Japanese aircraft carrier fleet and were able to warn Colombo's defenders to prepare a hot reception.

The Canadians' warning was held mainly responsible for success of Colombo's defence on this Easter Sunday, 1942.

MacArthur, Blamey Build Up Forces

Allies Foresee Jap Attack On U.S.-Australia Links

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, Australia (CP) - Lieut.-Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, United Nations land commander under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, warned today of the Japanese menace to Allied outposts, but declared the Allies are building up their forces even as the Japanese reinforce their positions on the islands above Australia.

Speaking in his first press conference since his appointment as commander of the land forces in the southwest Pacific, Sir Thomas reported signs of increased Japanese activity which he said might indicate the foe is preparing for an attempt to seize Allied outposts or cut the supply line from the United States.

He explained that Darwin, northern Australia, and Port Moresby, New Guinea, are the areas menaced.

"We are building up our forces in those areas," he said. "We are now in a much better position than we ever have been to meet the Japanese."

"Increased enemy activity," he went on, "means he has some further plan. I am not going to forecast it."

"Seizure of either Darwin or Port Moresby would not be vital to either side at the moment, but it would be strategically important to either side to hold these places as a jumping-off point."

He said Allied strength in Australia soon would be "built up to such an extent that it will take a very big expedition to make an impression on this continent."

"Our land forces are determined to carry the war to the enemy's territory as soon as possible, but not until we are ready and convinced of our capacity to carry it out successfully."

"Advocacy of a second front is wrongly based at present. Allied leaders are determined to establish such a front when we are certain it will not be wasted and that we will be able to make a good job of it."

WASHINGTON (AP) - Reports from Australia recently of a concentration of Japanese warships and troop transports among the Marshall Islands in the south central Pacific has given rise to speculation in informed quarters here that a major thrust against the United States supply line to Australia is imminent.

The island of Jaluit, centre of the area in which the Japanese apparently are concentrating, is 1,500 miles north of New Caledonia, where American troops landed recently to join forces with the Free French. An equal distance to the southeast lies American Samoa, and 2,100 miles to the northeast is Hawaii.

Because of this strategic location, experts said today, the Japs would be able to move in any of three main directions or they could try a series of feints in an effort to test American strength and then strike with full force wherever conditions appeared most favorable.

Dispatches from Australia said the enemy was gathering ships and men in the mandated islands area. These reports were linked here with the disappearance of powerful Japanese naval units from the Bay of Bengal, off India, about a week ago.

INFORMED QUARTERS SUGGESTED these units, having carried out a purely raiding and reconnaissance mission against British forces there, had been withdrawn eastward in preparation for an attempt to sever the vital sea route between Australia and this country.

Australia rather than India, as these authorities see the situation, is Japan's primary military problem at this time and since the rapid increase of American forces in Australia probably would make a frontal assault too costly even for the Japanese to contemplate, their logical move would be to attempt a blockade

War Outlays To Be Examined By Committee

OTTAWA (CP) - A special committee of 24 members of the House of Commons will examine government war expenditures with the unequivocal assurance of Prime Minister Mackenzie King that it will not be limited or restricted in its scope.

Mr. King's resolution setting up the committee was adopted unanimously just before adjournment Thursday night after the House had debated it two days.

A feature of Thursday's debate was the charge made by C. E. Johnston, N.D., Bow River, that some war industries, including perhaps the three largest plants in Canada, making trucks and similar equipment, were "deliberately slowing down production."

He asserted, too, that war industries were "deliberately held back by the government."

This drew from the Prime Minister a challenge to Mr. Johnston to make specific charges and, if he did so, to set up a committee before which he might prove them.

Mr. Johnston said the people were being misled by government statements into a belief that war industries are running at full capacity while many plants are working only part time.

FORBIDDEN -

In one factory an employee had told him, Mr. Johnston said, that he was forbidden to do more than half the work of which he was capable.

He said a committee of workers had visited Ottawa recently to protest that several large plants were "deliberately slowing down production" and had made representations to the government.

PAPER OUTPUT -

He added that a similar committee would be here "in a day or two" to report that, in spite of the paper salvage campaign and talk of paper shortage, one large paper-making plant was operating only three days a week.

"The minister of munitions and supply tells us there is a shortage of steel," he continued. "I do not believe that. The rolling mill in Calgary quits at 5 o'clock every afternoon and the manager there told me they could produce three times as much steel as they are making."

Mr. Johnston said he had been told by the president of the Ottawa Car and Aircraft Company that that company was working on airplanes without any order from the government, keeping the plant going in the hope that orders would materialize.

SECRET SITTINGS -

In Thursday's debate, as on the previous day, some members charged that the government's manner of dealing with Parliament was bringing that body into disrepute and to a state of uselessness.

This criticism arose over the practice of the committee constituted now on exactly the same lines as last session - of holding meetings in camera.

War Services Minister Thorson, chairman of the war expenditures committee last year, defended the secret sittings. He said they were productive of more information and that more speed was possible when the press was not present to report speeches.

Mr. Thorson said it would be quite in order for the committee to investigate the munitions and supply department, as several members had suggested, and he was sure every facility would be given.

Those who opposed the secret sittings said they did so particularly because the information obtained at such meetings could not be used in Parliament, yet often leaked out to the press and into radio speeches. This aspect of the question was not dealt with by the government.

M.P.'s Ask Questions On Postponed Training

OTTAWA (CP) - Two Liberal members of Parliament have placed on House of Commons order paper questions relating to postponement of compulsory military training.

H. W. Winkler, Lisgar, Manx, asks for figures, by provinces, on the number of applications on grounds of conscientious objection for postponement of military service and how many such requests were granted.

George Cruickshank, Fraser Valley, asks "what is the government's position in respect to the employment of those by law exempt from military service on war projects?" He asks if any such persons are employed in war industries and, if so, whether they may be called on to serve in a work camp for the duration of the war.

Mundare, Alberta Teachers on Strike

EDMONTON (CP) - Mundare's public and high schools are not operating. A strike of eight teachers went into effect this morning and 250 students are having a vacation.

The walk-out came despite a last-minute decision by the school board to accept the findings of an arbitration board which had recommended salary increases for the teachers.

The teachers wanted a guarantee that the acceptance would be a permanent arrangement, and because the teachers' pay cheques, due Thursday, had not been mailed to them.

J. W. Barnett of Edmonton, an official of the Alberta Teachers' Association, is in Mundare, 35 miles east of Edmonton, in an effort to settle the dispute.

British Withdraw To Defend Mandalay

LONDON (CP) - British troops guarding the right flank of the Allied line in Burma have been forced to withdraw 80 miles to a triangle marked by Mandalay, Kyaukse and Myingyan by the Japanese penetration to Lashio, a military commentator said today.

Kyaukse is less than 30 miles south of Mandalay; Myingyan is 50 miles west of Kyaukse on the Irrawaddy River.

The main bulk of the British forces in this area, it was stated, is protecting approaches to Mandalay from the northeast and the overland roads to India.

A dispatch from New Delhi stated British and Indian troops fighting the delaying action against Japanese attacks toward Mandalay were reported today to have abandoned their positions on the Irrawaddy River bend west of that city and to be withdrawing "successfully" to the north bank.

The wearied forces thus apparently left to the Japanese the area around Myingyan, where the Irrawaddy makes a big bend to the west and where earlier attempts to guard the Allied right flank failed.

A communique said Japanese patrols had penetrated into the Myingyan area, 40 miles north of Mandalay, and 55 miles west of Mandalay, but "were being successfully dealt with."

Allied defence continued on the southern front near Kyaukse, less than 30 miles from Mandalay, where the communique described a brilliant and successful fight which inflicted 500 casualties on the Japanese at the cost of only 10 of their own.

A British armoured brigade, including the 7th Hussars, still is in action in Burma, this source reported.

The commentator said there had been no pressure on the British sector of the front necessitating the withdrawal to the new defence triangle.

Rather, he said, there was a danger that the Japanese who have been inactive there for the last week might launch a drive up the west bank of the Irrawaddy in an effort to get between the British land routes to India.

The great Japanese penetration to Lashio is at the other Allied flank, 130 miles northeast of Mandalay.

STILL FIGHTING -

Chungking reports stated fighting is in progress at Hsenwi, 25 miles northeast of Japanese-captured Lashio, a Chinese communique announced tonight. It said Japanese troops also are attacking 20 miles south of Mandalay on the Irrawaddy.

Chinese forces in the Taunggyi and Lolo sectors below Lashio still are threatening the Japanese rear, the communique said, having made raids that cost the Japanese heavy casualties.

TO KEEP LINES OPEN -

Meanwhile, in New Delhi it was said that some what may in Burma, Allied military men here are determined to keep open the supply lines to China and to maintain communications vital to a unified war effort.

The fall of Lashio, announced Thursday by the Chinese, complicated the situation, for establishment of a Japanese air base there would endanger operation of the big freight planes now carrying war materials into China from India.

government officials here forecast from the Washington announcement of a price control policy is the imposition of a "ceiling" on the subsidies which Canada is having to pay on goods imported from other countries, but which the Department of National Revenue insists it is necessary to keep on the market. Presumably, the maintenance of present United States prices will have the effect of restricting subsidies to current levels.

Another result which is also foreseen is the continued interchange of goods between the two countries in existing volume. If United States commodity prices were to soar so high that the price ceiling on imported goods could only be met at huge cost to the national treasury, it would soon become necessary to curtail such imports.

The feeling here is, however, that prices are unlikely to rise sufficiently in either country now to make a basis of mutual Empire trade impossible.

Wynne Plumptre, commercial attaché to the Canadian Legation in Washington, has been assigned the duty of serving as liaison officer from the War-time Prices and Trade Board to the United States Price Administrator.

MAXIMUM EFFECTIVENESS -

Federal officials here admit the common objective of the two nations is to put their price control and anti-inflation policies in double harness in the idea that maximum effectiveness can be achieved from them.

Chief evidence of the intention of the United States authorities to fight inflation on an international front is the timing of this week's Washington price control announcement. It is emphasized that, although the United States price administration has co-operated at every step in Canada's control policies - sugar rationing and agreement to simplify men's clothing styles are two examples - the over-all price ceiling was not enacted in the United States until price levels there had risen a little better than 13 per cent over the August 1939 level.

This 13 per cent increase makes it possible to dovetail United States and Canadian prices into a price-ceiling policy on both sides of the border, and with the minimum of difficulties.

Canada and U.S. Join To Fight Inflation

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA - Disclosure by government circles here that Canada and the United States have exchanged price-ceiling liaison officers reveals the intention of the two countries to join forces in fighting inflation on an international front.

James Davis is accredited here as the personal representative of the War-time Prices and Trade Board of United States Price Administrator Leon Henderson. He has been assigned an office close to that of Chairman Donald Gordon and he is being kept closely informed of every move in the Canadian price control picture.

Buyer May Finish Hems on Trousers

TORONTO (CP)—Retailers of men's clothing now are permitted to deliver ready to wear suits and odd trousers to purchasers without having to finish the bottoms of the trousers, Horace R. Cohen, administrator of men's clothing, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced.

The purchaser may have the bottoms finished at the required length outside the store where the pants were sold, but any alterations made on a suit or trousers must be in accordance with men's clothing style regulations, Mr. Cohen added.

Before this announcement, no retailer was permitted to allow suits or trousers to leave a shop in an unfinished condition.

Greeks Drop on Streets

CAIRO (AP)—Prof. Pansiotis Kannelopoulos, who escaped from starving Greece last month when Italian occupation authorities were about to arrest him, said here Thursday that "the babies of Athens have faces like old men, but our fight is continuing."

"Dozens of persons fall in the streets of Athens every day from hunger, but our weakened survivors still hold their heads high."

Of the three occupation forces, the Bulgarians are the worst, the professor said.

"Last September the Bulgars massacred 15,000 Greeks in eastern Macedonia and western Thrace. Men and women at Doxata were bundled together with wire and machine-gunned."

Frenchers Give A Pledge

LONDON (CP)—Nazis oppressed trade unionists have asked workers of Britain, the United States and Russia to "keep vigilance in us" in a message received at Free French headquarters here.

"We are to do everything to you—sabotage enemy production, accept justified bomb attacks working for Grand follow instructions as send," the message said.

"We are accomplices of traitors. G forces some of us to force or the threat of it. It is in you comrades, as our confidence, you working to free us."

'Liberation of Homeland' Reds' One Objective—Stalin

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Joseph Stalin in a May Day order of the day pledged Russia has no territorial ambitions on foreign countries and declared the Soviet's sole aim is to liberate its lands from "the German Fascist blackguards."

Broadcasting his war effort to the nation, the Premier-Defence Commissar praised Great Britain and the United States for the increasing assistance he said they are giving Russia against the Germans.

He declared Russia must "smash the German Fascist army and wipe out the German invaders to the last man if they will not surrender."

"There is no other alternative way."

He said the only thing now lacking is the ability of the Red army men to utilize fully the first class technique which the fatherland is putting at their disposal against the enemy.

'SPARE NO BULLETS'

He ordered fighting branches of the Red army to master their weapons to perfection; told army commanders to become masters in leading their armies to make 1942 the year of the final defeat of the German Fascists; and instructed men and women guerrillas to wipe out the staff and equipment of the enemy in the rear and "to spare no bullets against the invaders of our fatherland."

Stalin told his people Britain and the United States are "giving our country more and more military assistance against the Fascist invaders; and that the Red army had forced the Fascists to 'clear out of a considerable part of Soviet territory.'"

He charged that Hitler, Goering, Ribbentrop and Heinrich Himmler and other rulers of present day Germany, "are watchdogs of the German bankers, placing the interests of the latter above all other interests."

"The German army," he added, "in the hands of these masters is a blind weapon called on to spill their own and other people's blood and cripple themselves and others not for the sake of the interests of Germany but for the enrichment of German bankers and plutocrats."

He called the German army an "army of medieval darkness, called upon to destroy European culture in order to institute the slave-driver culture of German bankers and barons."

NAZIS GROW WEAK

The Russian leader said Fascist Germany and her army had become weaker during the 10 months of the Russian-German war.

"The war has brought to the German people great disappointment, millions of human lives sacrificed, hunger and impoverishment," he said.

"No end can be seen to the war and human reserves are at their end."

"Their oil is running out."

"Their raw materials are running out."

"Among the German people recognition of the inevitability of Germany's defeat is growing."

"For the German people it becomes clearer and clearer that the only way out of this situation is the liberation of Germany from the adventurous clique of Hitler and Goering."

ALLIED UNITY

The Russian Premier-Defence Commissar, broadcasting an order of the day to the Soviet Union on May Day, declared that Britain and the United States occupy first place among the freedom-loving countries helping Russia against the invaders and said the Russians are connected with those two Allies "by ties of friendships and unity."

It was his first order of the day since Feb. 23, the 24th anniversary of the founding of the Red Army, when he confidently declared the German invaders would be cast from Soviet soil in due time, but warned that a "stern struggle" lay ahead.

"After more than 10 months of war, he said, Russia has become considerably stronger, the Red army has become more organized and more powerful than it was at the beginning of the conflict, and has 'passed from the defence to a successful advance against the enemy troops.'"

GENERAL KILLED BOARDING PLANE

MELBOURNE (CP)—Brig. Gen. Harold George, United States officer whose death in an aerial accident was announced Thursday, was killed when a fighter plane got out of control while taking off and crashed into a party which was boarding another plane. It was disclosed today.

Melville Jacoby, Time and Life magazine correspondent died with Gen. George.

The mishap was said to have taken place at an advanced Allied air field.

A military funeral is planned Saturday for Gen. George, who was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal posthumously for his execution of "seemingly impossible tasks" as commander of air forces in the defence of Britain.

More than 30 British, American and Australian war correspondents and a group of U.S. army officers attended the funeral of Jacoby at a Melbourne crematorium today.

Must Overlook Kaslo Objection to Japs

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell said in the House of Commons that if the Japanese are to be removed from the most dangerous areas on the west coast some objections on the part of people in the areas to which they are moved must be overlooked.

Mr. Mitchell was answering W. K. Esling, Conservative, Kootenay West, who said residents of Kaslo, B.C., in his constituency, are protesting against the settlement of that community.

Mr. Esling said the chairman of the British Columbia Security Commission (Austin C. Taylor of Vancouver) was reported to have said Japanese would not be moved into a community which was not unanimously in favor of having them. An official of the city of Kaslo had asked for Japanese, but 112 residents had sent a protest.

Mr. Mitchell said Kaslo was one of a number of "more or less ghost towns" in which Japanese are being placed. It was difficult to get unanimous consent from any community for the settlement of Japanese in it. Nearly everywhere there was a substantial group in opposition.

In the case of Kaslo, the request came from the mayor and the Board of Trade. The commission had sent its inspectors in and let contracts for the repair of houses in which the Japanese are to be lodged. He said he knew of no better place for Japanese than in a number of "ghost towns" where there are unoccupied houses.

About 5,000 could be accommodated in these towns, Mr. Mitchell said.

LONDON (CP)—Historic iron railings at Carnarvon Castle, in Wales, weighing many pounds, will be melted down for munitions. The BBC said permission for the railings to be removed was granted by David Lloyd George.

New Restrictions On Rope Products

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank C. Brown, head of the Canada Western Cordage Company and adviser to the Canadian government's manila, help and steel supply administration, returned from a tour of eastern Canada and the United States today with news of further restrictions on rope and manila products.

Mr. Brown said that an order effective from April 1 limited manila rope production this year to 45 per cent of last year's total. In future no deep sea ship outside of the navy can have more than one tow line or hawser of manila. Sisal ropes will be substituted.

He said arrangements are now being made to return all frozen supplies of stocks in the hands of dealers and consumers to jobbers who will send them to warehouses to be held in reserve.

Mr. Brown said it was "amazing how American industry is taking hold of its job of producing war materials for the United Nations."

"Production has reached such staggering proportions that it is beginning to run ahead of the supply of ships to transport it to the war fronts," he said. "That is why ships are today our No 1 problem."

Germany Now Losing 'Moral Strength'

LONDON (Aneta to CP)—Germany is fast losing "moral strength," but the moral strength of the United Nations is "growing," Premier Peter S. Gerbrandy of the Netherlands declared Thursday at a celebration in honor of Crown Princess Juliana's birthday.

The Prime Minister said this was the most significant revelation of the recent

Communist Chairman Barred From Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Wm. Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist Party in the United States, scheduled to address a mass meeting in Toronto tonight, will not be admitted to Canada.

"Mr. Foster is not eligible to enter Canada," an immigration department spokesman said. No explanation was given of the reason for the ruling.

Defence Conviction

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul Emile Robert, 20, president of Les Jeunes Laurentiens, a French-Canadian youth organization, was found guilty Thursday of a charge of "uttering statements at a public meeting likely to cause disaffection among His Majesty's subjects, and of jeopardizing recruiting in Canada." He will be sentenced May 7.

The statement was made by Robert at a meeting held under the auspices of La Ligue pour la Defense du Canada, an anti-conscription organization.

St. Laurent Refutes Intimidation Charge

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister St. Laurent said in the House of Commons he had investigated complaints brought to him by Angus MacInnis, Vancouver East, of intimidation of labor union workers in Vancouver, and had found them to be without foundation.

Mr. MacInnis had stated Allan C. Wright, Canadian Congress of Labor organizer at Vancouver, had reported intimidation of himself and other union workers.

The minister told the House R.C.M.P. officers had examined Mr. Wright's national registration card at the request of the local registrar, and that Mr. Wright had not raised any objection.

Reports of intimidation by security officers against trades union workers at the Dominion Bridge works had proved to be without foundation, the minister added. No restrictions had been placed on the union officials, and they had not been interfered with.

Defeat Germany in 1942

MAY DAY IN RUSSIA THIS YEAR WAS a day of "labor and struggle in order to give maximum aid to the front"—to give the valiant men of the Soviet armies "more rifles, machine guns, mortars, tanks, planes, meat, fish and vegetables." So said Premier Joseph Stalin in an Order of the Day phrased in the calm and deliberate manner of a man who understands his obligation to a people implacably committed to the deliverance of their land from the brutal aggressor. Nor did he need to shout and rant; unity and sacrifice continue to serve as the twin watchwords of soldier and civilian alike. And it was good to learn from the Russian leader himself that vital war material from Great Britain and the United States is reaching the U.S.S.R. in ever-increasing quantities.

This May Day message to the Russian people revealed Premier Stalin at his best. Adopting something of the Rooseveltian technique of emphatic repetition where it was necessary to drive home important points the Soviet leader nailed several fantastic claims of the "German Fascists" with five words: "This of course is a lie." He was referring specifically to those protestations which from time to time have emanated from the propaganda factory of the Herr Doktor Goebbels—that Germany is defending her own integrity against attacks from other countries, that National Socialism is a bulwark against the depredations of external plutocrats, and that the Nazis are protagonists of a European culture literally dripping with human kindness. The man who is leading the greatest single force against the powers of evil and darkness required no shining rhetoric to galvanize his public; he was able to recount for his own people and for the edification of enemy world and friendly world alike the achievements of 10 months of war against the most formidable military machine ever sent into action. And he rounded off his citation of fact, which not even the bombastic Hitler is able to gain say, with the clear declaration that the Soviet Union has no territorial ambitions upon foreign countries, and that her sole aim is liberation from the German blackguards.

Mr. Stalin understands full well the magnitude of the task which is facing his magnificent armies; but he must be tremendously encouraged by the fact that in only 10 months of war on the eastern front his valiant men have destroyed more of the totalitarian enemy's physical and material resources than the men of Berlin and Rome dare admit to their own regimented peoples. While the Nazi Wehrmacht still retains immense power and is in possession of strongly-guarded strategic points between the Arctic and the Black Sea, the knowledge that the first phase of the campaign completely shattered the myth of German invincibility is the incentive which emboldens the Soviet Premier to call upon his people to make 1942 the year of defeat for the invaders.

Any day now, of course, and particularly in view of the meeting between Hitler and Mussolini, the Soviet Union's southern theatre of operations may be subjected to one of the greatest military operations of all time. Mr. Stalin knows, and he realizes that Hitler is aware that he knows, the German war machine in the next few months must obtain fresh supplies of oil and other vital raw materials. The oil is in the Caucasus. Failure of the Wehrmacht to reach it means disaster to the Nazi cause. British and American supplies will help to thwart that breakthrough in the south.

Manpower Gap

IN ITS ISSUE OF MAY 3, 1941, AT A time when millions in the United States and many other countries were wondering what President Roosevelt would do in his third term—whether, perhaps, the United States would enter the war as a full-time belligerent—Business Week, New York, announced that the neighboring Republic had a great advantage over Germany in the battle of increased production. Noting how Hitler and his gang had been forced to conscript labor, within the Reich and by the importation of workers from Nazi-occupied countries, the well-known commercial journal summarized the situation as it then appeared as follows:

"Sheer manpower is not right now a seriously limiting factor on continued expansion in overall production. The pinch probably won't come until next year, when most of the new defence plants will be in operation."

The "pinch" which Business Week foreshadowed has arrived on time; a crisis in United States manpower is obviously looming. The present position is described thus: 1. The armed forces comprise about 2,500,000 men. But by the end of this year, some 4,000,000 will be in the army, navy and marine corps. And by the end of 1943, the armed establishment might reach 7,000,000 to 9,000,000, depending on the course of the war, and that would pull 4,500,000 men out of the labor market.

56,000,000 by December, 1943—in all a rise of 4,000,000 to 6,000,000. 3. Thus, all told, the two-year demand for man and woman-power will range from a minimum of 8,500,000 to a maximum of 12,500,000 persons.

In the early days of the last decade such a prospect would have cheered the heart of an administration that was spending vast sums of money to create employment. When Mr. Roosevelt took office, the number of idle workers in the United States had reached totals of anywhere from 9,000,000 to 12,000,000. The problem now is how to meet what appears to be an inescapable deficit. Business Week argues, then, that if the country is to avoid wholesale dislocations—shifting workers from one area to another or closing down civilian enterprises to get sheer manpower—it will be up to the women. In other words, the Manpower Commission under the guiding genius of Mr. Paul V. McNutt will have to persuade the hand that rocks the cradle to turn a lathe. Britain has done it. Canada is about to do it more extensively than at present. All the Axis countries have accomplished it by sheer compulsion. Such a course may be necessary in the United States to bridge the labor gap.

All Should Co-operate

EVERY SENSIBLE PERSON IN BRITISH Columbia will applaud Attorney-General Maitland's stern warning that all motorists caught driving more than the new legal speed of 40 miles an hour will be punished. This is now the law of Canada and all states with which the edict may conflict automatically lose their force and effect for the duration of the war.

Apart altogether from the urgent necessity of husbanding gasoline and preserving our tires, 40 miles an hour for ordinary passenger and commercial travel should be considered fast enough for anybody. The new law, incidentally, should be a lesson to those motorists who never seem able to resist the temptation to pass every other car on the highway. They must get into town two or three minutes before anybody else. If they were asked what they intended to do with the time saved they probably would be at a loss for a sensible answer.

Neither this nor any other law can be expected to cure a habit which has become an obsession with many people. This one, however, will strike home to every motorist as no other has done. It not only provides punishment for infraction; it is also a warning that to ignore it spells curtailment of motoring either through more rapid tire wastage or through a more rigid rationing of gas. In the interest of all concerned, then, Mr. Maitland's appeal for co-operation on the part of the public should not fail.

Magnificent!

NOTHING THAT HAS COME OUT OF France since the men of Bordeaux capitulated to Hitler in the summer of 1940 has been so inspiring and significant as the message from the oppressed French trade unionists to the workers of Britain, the United States, and Russia. These brave toilers under the Nazi yoke have communicated a new article of their faith to the headquarters of the Free French in the following terms:

"We are ready to do everything to help you—sabotage enemy production, accept justified bombing of factories working for Germany and follow instructions you may send. We are not accomplices of traitors. Germany forces some of us to work by force or the threat of starvation. It is in you, comrades, we place our confidence, you who are working to free us."

To add anything to such a manifestation of supreme faith in the outcome of this great struggle would be presumptuous. It represents the soul of the France that once was—the France that will rise again.

They Meet Again

WHEN HITLER AND MUSSOLINI have met on former occasions startling events have followed. The invasion of Norway, Italy's attack on brave little Greece, and the German march into Russia were preceded by a meeting of the two European members of the triple Axis. The Brenner Pass had become a dreaded symbol in the totalitarian military schemes. But the latest confab, this time at once delightful Salzburg, found the Nazi and Fascist chiefs in a state of apprehension—Hitler naturally anxious to stiffen Mussolini's back, if only for appearances sake, and Il Duce no doubt wondering where it is all going to lead him.

In other words, nothing these Axis partners can evolve now will alter the inexorable course of the United Nations; but the Fuehrer and Il Duce know in their heart of hearts that the new front which the Royal Air Force already has opened up represents just a sample of what is in store for Germany and Italy. No meaningless boast was the statement issued by United States General Marshall in London the other day. This means huge bombers and fighting planes bearing the star of the American Air Force and flown by Americans. What has been done to Rostock, Luebeck, and a dozen other German communities devoted to the production of material for the Wehrmacht will be extended daily and nightly. What, we wonder, did Hitler have to say to Mussolini about this prospect?

Statistics show 1941 was one of the top years in alimony paid out. The high cost of leaving.

Canadian Red Cross

(CONTRIBUTED)
ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING thinkers of today recently described the Canadian nation as a forthright people who, having set their objective, demand quick and decisive action to attain it.

He instances our building of roads and railroads which always take the shortest route. If a mountain stands in the way we blow it into dust and debris by tremendous charges of dynamite. He also draws attention to the men of the Canadian Expeditionary Force of the last war who, once having seen the enemy's position, allowed nothing to stand in the way of its immediate capture. He sums up by saying the motto of the Canadian nation should be "Action, Action and Again Action."

Canadians in the mass will agree with him. Action not soon but immediately is the demand of the whole nation in the present war, and all Canadian men, women and children want to take part in that action, to do something much more important than talk.

HOW TO HELP

THE OPPORTUNITY FOR such action is now ours. If we cannot all be fighting in the front line, we can all be helping our men who are today slowly but surely bringing victory to our cause in the air, on the sea and on the land.

Wherever the forces of freedom are, there you will find the Canadian Red Cross bringing succor to the wounded, food to the starving and clothing to the destitute—that vital help wherever it is needed, in war-torn Europe and other parts of the world, without regard to color, race or creed.

The Canadian Red Cross, true to the spirit of the Canadian nation, is a direct action organization. It is doing its immense humanitarian work on behalf of and in the name of the Canadian people. Its work is work every Canadian man, woman and child wants done and work in which, during the next few days, every Canadian man, woman and child can take a direct part by giving practical and generous support to the appeal for necessary funds which will be made in Victoria.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

AS THIS IS THE ONLY national appeal to be made for funds for war services by any social organization this year, this will be the only opportunity that Canadians will have of helping in a practical way the greatest humanitarian effort man has ever made. Not only are we sure that every Victorian will act and act quickly; we are also sure that a friendly welcome will be extended to those citizens who are giving financial assistance and devoting their time to collecting the subscriptions from their fellow Victorians.

Need of Education

By RT. HON. BRENDAN BRACKEN,
British Minister of Information

ALTHOUGH THE UNITED STATES and Great Britain speak the same language and fervently share the belief that life without freedom is death in life, we are sadly lacking in knowledge of each other.

Ignorance, that great breeder of suspicion, was the root cause of our failure to work together during the years when we might have saved mankind from the catastrophe of another world war.

How can we improve this ignorance? By cheap propaganda? No; that would not lessen our lack of understanding. Our need is education.

It is a depressing fact that the average Englishman and American know nothing about the history, institutions or ways of life of each other's country. Education in the American way of life must be one of our prime peace aims.

Meanwhile, the best way of removing some of the misunderstandings and suspicions bred by ignorance is for our countries to exchange the maximum amount of facts and figures regarding our war efforts. This will be a strong and unifying force. There are plenty of good newspaper correspondents in England and America who are eager to do this job.

THEIR CEASELESS TASK

STRESS TO THE POINT of weariness is the need for unity. For without unity of English-speaking peoples, everything that is true and of good report in our ways of life must perish.

Be under no illusion, the prime aim of the Axis propagandists is to poison the relations between Britain and America. This is their ceaseless task.

If you listen to Nazi broadcasts you will hear that the selfish, slothful John Bull expects Uncle Sam to fight until there are no more Americans—and no more dollars. Meanwhile, John Bull is being warned by Germany that Uncle Sam is out to filch a large part of Britain's overseas possessions.

It is not enough for public men, the press and broadcasters in England and America to become natters of such lies. They must be always on guard against "candid" friends who seek to find imperfections in the war efforts of our countries.

Parallel Thoughts

Ye might learn in us not to think of men above that which is written, that no one of you be puffed up for one-against another.—I Corinthians 4:6.

An honest man, close-button'd to the chin, broadcloth without, and a warm heart within.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"It'll be easy to win his father over to the idea of us getting married, but it's his mother that I've got to sell!"

VIOLINS LESS POPULAR

H. Rene in New York Post

According to a report compiled during the past seven years by George A. Wedge, dean of the Institute of Musical Art of the Juilliard School of Music, the violin and other string instruments are losing their popularity in this country, while the nonstring instruments have grown in popularity with those who study music.

Of course, the obvious reason for this decrease in the study of violin, cello and other string instruments is the fact that students can make quicker and more profitable use of wind and brass instruments after the completion of their musical studies. This condition has been brought about by the great popularity of swing music. While there is nothing wrong with this type of music, I feel that the very band leaders who feature this type of swing rhythm are overlooking a good commercial angle by not mixing their radio programs with a popular violin. The contrast between the two styles of playing would attract considerable attention and, moreover, would satisfy a vast number of people who ordinarily would not listen to a swing band. Also, violin and other string instruments can be used beautifully by popular dance bands in their fox-trot and other dance arrangements.

It is important that the decrease in the popularity of these instruments cease, for their beauty is irreplaceable.

USUALLY IT'S NEEDED

From St. Thomas Times-Journal

Teachers never like to have to punish children. It is better to win children's regard than incur their hostility. That eases the teacher's lot, which is a trying one at any time. Let a mother who has to raise five or six children try managing 30 or 40 of varying temperaments and she will soon realize that.

When punishment is inflicted it is almost certainly deserved. And it will do a boy more good than harm. Discipline is one of the most essential factors in education.

FIRST AID ADVICE

Imagine a bomb explosion in which a man is burned about the face and hands, severely cut on the shoulder from flying glass, and receives a compound fracture of the leg. The victim lies amid piles of debris in an upstairs room from which he must be carried down in the dark with shielded flashlights.

This, says the Lancet (London), is the sort of problem that first-aiders should be taught to handle rather than be given long lectures on anatomy.

In a plea for more realistic instruction of first-aiders, a Lancet editorial urges teachers to give their classes plenty of such examples to work on, rather than trying to teach medical theory. The editorial notes that first-aiders everywhere commit the same blunders as the British: "They fail to examine patients carefully enough; they pay attention to the worst injury; they use splints which are too short; and they incline to be too free with the tourniquet."

The editorial concludes with the warning that "any of these dark nights—the skill and conscience of the first aid lecturer may mean the difference between survival and death for somebody, and if invasion comes the efficiency of our first aid may turn the scale."

TAX CONCESSIONS FOR GRUBSTAKING

OTTAWA (CP) — To stimulate prospecting for base metals and strategic minerals this year the government under the 1942-43 budget will provide income and excess profits tax concessions to individuals and corporations, Finance Minister Ilsley announced in the House of Commons.

"The tax concession . . . will be in the form of an allowance against income for income and excess profits tax purposes in respect of amounts contributed to prospecting syndicates registered with provincial authorities," Mr. Ilsley said in a brief statement.

"A person may not claim an allowance of more than $500 in respect of any one syndicate, and there will be an over-all limit of $5,000 the total amount which one person may claim. This will allow a person to participate in up to $500 in each of 10 syndicates.

The concessions would be subject to the condition that in no case shall a saving to any person by reason of the allowance be more than 40 per cent of the amount of the deductions.

"In registered prospecting syndicates, it is proposed to allow exploration companies and bona fide prospectors to deduct up to $5,000 in sending out for 'explorations' . . . Mr. Ilsley said. This allowance shall be subject to 40 per cent limit on tax saving."

Drama Festival

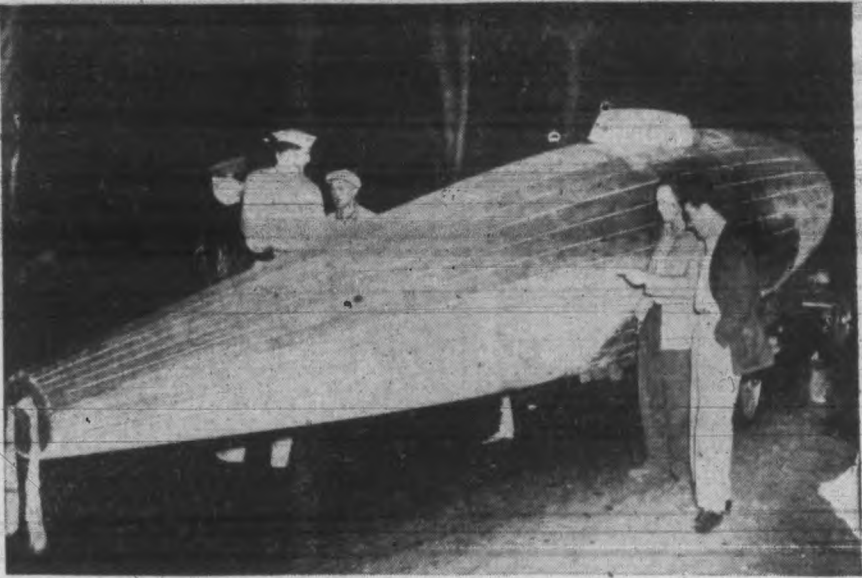

The North Okanagan Schools Drama Festival, held in Vernon, attracted a big crowd of civilians and soldiers from the camp. The city of Vernon was once again in a class by itself as regards drama. The Vernon High School carried off the prize in the intermediate class with their play, "Quality Street," and the Vernon Elementary School took first place in the junior class with their play, "The Dyspeptic Ogre."

The adjudicator was Major L. Bullock-Webster of Victoria, whose constructive but kindly criticisms have been appreciated in that district on many previous occasions.

Appreciation was expressed of the support given school drama by the Hon. H. G. Perry, Minister of Education.

'Submarine' Corralled After Creating Furor

Having the appearance of a small submarine, this wooden hull caused plenty of trouble for its owners, Joseph Licha and his son, Charles, who were towing it through Los Angeles when police, army, navy and finally FBI agents descended on the pair for questioning. Licha is seen in right background explaining that he intended to make a fishing boat of the hull.

Commission Satisfied With Police Investigation

The Victoria Police Commission Thursday expressed itself as being satisfied that the Victoria Police Department was carrying on with its investigation into the death of taxi driver John Blair Creagh, killed Saturday morning when his car plunged off Langford Street, and tore 50 feet over rock and through brush.

The commission, Mayor Andrew McGavin, chairman, Aldermen W. H. Davies and D. D. McTavish, was called after receiving a petition from the National Drivers' Union, Local No. 1, expressing dissatisfaction with the verdict of accidental death, handed down Monday by a coroner's jury under Dr. E. C. Hart.

BELIEVE FOUL PLAY

The union asked that police make an immediate and thorough investigation into the death of Creagh. Several of the union members expressed themselves as being convinced that Creagh met with foul play. The organization will be informed by letter the investigation is being continued.

Chief of Police John A. McLellan assured the commission that the case was still under investigation but that all available evidence still pointed strongly to accidental death.

"We have investigated some things that cannot be made public," the chief said, in backing up his previous statement.

"I have viewed the site of the accident," Alderman Davies said early in the discussion, "and I don't see how anyone could have gone over and sustained the injuries this man did."

"The police should follow this up," said Alderman McTavish. "Before we make any decision," Alderman Davies said, "we should look over the site of the accident and the evidence."

"That is not our business," the mayor replied. "We are here to make sure the police are enforcing the law. If the man who went home in the car had turned up, perhaps the mystery would have been solved. As far as I know the police are investigating and will continue to do so."

At the end of the meeting the commission accompanied police and detectives to the scene of Creagh's death, but made no comment. The chief, Detectives Louis Callon, David Donaldson and Henry Jarvis, and Constable Thomas Banister were all present.

ISSUE STATEMENT

The mayor issued the following statement on the case:

By an editorial the Daily Colonist expresses dissatisfaction with the finding of the coroner's jury in the case of Mr. John Blair Creagh who was found dead in a car he had been driving on Saturday last.

The finding of the coroner has no effect on the police investigation and if the deceased met his death by a criminal act such verdict does not in any way absolve the perpetrator of the crime from prosecution.

In some cases the full investigation may take months, and it would not be reasonable to have the proceeding before the coroner carry on over such protracted period.

The Police Commission cannot investigate the case itself. Its function is to investigate any charge of negligence on the part of the police, etc. or to give directions that the investigation of the case be continued by the proper officers to ascertain as far as is reasonably possible whether the deceased was the victim of foul play. Of course it could if it deemed it advisable engage outside help to assist the police. For instance, Inspector Vance or any other expert could be brought in for that purpose.

An offer from the Canadian Corps of Commissioners to assist police in emergencies, was not immediately accepted at the commission meeting. The commission stated it wanted more information before it could accept the offer.

Commissioners unanimously turned down suggestions from Arthur E. Haynes Ltd. and Henry Hepburn Ltd., that car-parking regulations in the business district be abolished for the rest of the war, because of gasoline rationing and tire shortage.

The commission agreed with the Mayor when he said: "I think there should be even more strict enforcement of parking regulations."

Victoria Hostess Club met Monday in the clubrooms. The conveners of the sub-committee reported everything was going along satisfactorily. During March 13,509 men of the three forces were entertained by the club. On Saturday, April 25, the hostesses had one of their biggest nights when 1,326 men visited the club.

Mrs. F. E. Ed'dels Dies at Shawnigan

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — Shawnigan Lake residents were greatly shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Florence Evelyn Ed'dels Wednesday afternoon. Although in indifferent health for some time, Mrs. Ed'dels was at ways busy with her home and outside activities, and had been preparing the evening meal when she succumbed from a heart attack.

Born in London, England, 57 years ago she came to Canada 17 years ago and has resided in Shawnigan during the past eight years. She has been prominent in local social affairs, and being secretary of the Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association, she was well known to many in the entertainment and sport fields. She was popular with the younger folk and shortly after coming to Victoria she organized a dramatic society, thereby giving to many the benefit of her experience in the theatrical world.

She leaves her husband, Wm. F. S. Ed'dels and daughter, Evelyn, at the family residence; also a son and daughter by her former marriage, Ernest Clancy in England, and Mrs. Hazel Ritchie of Sprout Lake, and two grandsons.

Funeral services will be held in St. John's Church, Cobble Hill, Sunday afternoon at 2, Rev. E. M. Willis officiating.

Order Plumbing Supplies Reduced

OTTAWA (CP) — The War Time Prices and Trade Board has announced an order standardizing varieties of plumbing and heating equipment and estimates the ruling will release enough metal to make 250 infantry tanks.

The order limits manufacture of boilers, heaters and hot water tanks to a prescribed range of sizes and types. Lines in little demand and for which standard sizes can be substituted have been cancelled.

"The nation's essential heating requirements will be met, without waste, without frills, and thousands of tons of heretofore idle metal will be released for war purposes," said E. J. Laidlaw, administrator of plumbing and heating supplies.

The board's announcement said that in the radiator field alone an overall reduction of 84 per cent of 1,189 varieties, has been accomplished. Number of lines has been cut down from 1,414 to 225. Boilers, in which some standardization has already taken place, are cut from 19 to 14 sizes and square boilers from 40 to eight widths. Number of sizes of bungalow heaters is cut by half.

Italian People Tightening Belts

BERNE, Switzerland (AP) — Coffee is known as "black gold," fruit is next to unobtainable and other food is growing even scarcer within warring Italy, advances at Italian border points indicate.

One Rome report said the Italian birth rate had risen since the nation entered the war as an Axis partner, but that infant mortality had tripled. Hardships were reflected in a lighter weight average of the war babies, it was said. A traveler who left Italy recently said the people still listened to foreign radio broadcasts despite a government order against the practice and jamming of British programs.

A sharp rise in the price of jewelry was reported to have accompanied a decline in the purchasing power of the lire, despite Mussolini's cry against "the buying of antiques."

A jewelry collection valued at 40,000 lire before the war sold recently for 800,000 lire, it was said, and most dentists now require patients to bring their own gold — taken from jewelry — if they want that metal put into their teeth.

May Be Exempt

OTTAWA (CP) — Permanently employed members of police departments and fire brigades may be "excepted" from compulsory military training under the national war service regulations, Maj. Gen. L. R. LaFleche, associate deputy war services minister, said in commenting on a report that 11 Kitchener, Ont., policemen were subject to call.

CANADIAN CRISIS

The result of the plebiscite vote is to bring us to the crossroads of all Canadian history. If Canada as a nation goes right ahead the future of this country is brighter than it has been for a long time past. If Canada hesitates, falters, tries to side step or turn back she invites an internal crisis more serious than any which has existed since 1837.

The facts upon which the potential crisis rests are obvious. They are three in number.

The Canadian people, by the largest vote ever recorded, have said they want conscription. They have said so by a majority larger than has ever been given to any government which has ever held office in Canada.

But the French-Canadian people, as a race, have dissented from the majority decision.

Parliament, therefore, is faced with a difficult decision. It must decide to do either what the majority orders, or what the minority preferred, before the total verdict was known.

If Parliament fails to do what the people as a whole have ordered it to do we will have repudiated the first principle of democracy. If Parliament does carry out the national orders it will have to apply conscription against the preferences of the French-Canadian minority.

Obviously there will be difficulties if, as a nation, we firmly and fairly apply conscription. But if we fail to apply it we invite—indeed almost make certain—the rupture of this Dominion and the destruction of Confederation.

ROAD TO RUIN

The surest short-cut to outright disaster in this country would be to follow what deceptively appears to be the line of least resistance: That is, to apply conscription for overseas service to everybody but French-Canadians. Already there have been quavering voices raised in support of this assinine suggestion. If anything could be better calculated to sow the seeds of civil strife in this country, it would be to follow this one-eyed plan.

All Canadians have equal rights under the law, as well as equal obligations. By the terms of the transfer of Quebec from the French to the British Empire, the people there were given certain rights; these were concerned with religion, language, and, later, civil law.

But the curse of Canada, from the very earliest times till now, was something altogether apart from these constitutionally guaranteed minority rights.

It was the vicious practice of getting the so-called "double majority." It was this perversion of the constitution which created the deadlock which, in turn, inspired the coalition government which put through Confederation.

What was that "double majority" perversion? It was the theory that before anything could become law it had to win a majority, not only in Parliament as a whole, but also among the French-Canadian members as well.

That meant then, and would mean now, that the French-Canadians were sure of being able to veto anything attempted by the nation as a whole.

That meant then, and would mean now, that the French-Canadians were sure of being able to veto anything attempted by the nation as a whole.

when all democracy is literally fighting for its life with its back to the wall.

Rules for Gifts Of Coffee to Troops

OTTAWA (CP)—Under new Trade and Commerce Department regulations, gift shipments of tea or coffee sent to soldiers now must not weigh more than five pounds unless an export permit is obtained.

Until a few days ago there was an 11-pound overall weight limit on soldiers' parcels sent from Canada, but no restriction on the amount of any commodity contained in them.

Under the recent departmental order tea and coffee shipments of more than five pounds require an export permit, and officials said the restriction applies to parcels sent to the troops.

The order has no effect on gift shipments to civilians overseas since these parcels must not exceed five pounds in weight and must not contain more than two pounds of any one foodstuff.

Forgery losses in 1938 were estimated at $206,000,000.

Comrades Murder Japs Shot Down

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Japanese fliers who attempt to surrender after being shot down are killed by their colleagues, the Melbourne radio said in relating an interview with a young Australian fighter pilot. CBS heard the broadcast.

"The pilot, who has served with distinction in Libya, confirms the report that Japanese are killing their own men if they bail out of planes," the broadcast said.

"In a recent dog-fight over the New Guinea area, this pilot was flying an Australian Kittyhawk fighter when a Japanese Zero was shot down into the sea in flames."

Then, quoting the pilot: "Some minutes later he saw the Japanese pilot swimming toward shore from the wrecked plane. Another Zero immediately dived and machine-gunned the struggling pilot, who disappeared beneath the waves."

"The Japanese are apparently going to desperate lengths to prevent captured pilots from giving any information that would be valuable later."

Tolerance Essential To Canada Unity, Women Find

Canadian unity depends largely on the cultivation of a more tolerant and understanding attitude between English-speaking and French-Canadians, and upon the readiness of those living in the wealthier provinces to make certain sacrifices to ensure a more equitable social and economic policy for all. This was the consensus of opinion at the final session of the Women's Council Table held Thursday evening at the Central Junior High School. Dr. Sylvia Thrupp of the University of British Columbia was the principal speaker, and Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin presided.

Dr. Thrupp led the discussion on the subject "How Can We Promote Canadian Unity?" In her introductory survey she touched upon the importance of perspective, noting that problems of unity were not peculiar to Canada. Nazi Germany had attempted to bring about racial unity, while Italy's goal was political unity, and both had encountered tremendous problems in the process. They also exemplified something of the difference between the unity built upon group sentiment and the unity expressed in state policies, she said.

What Canada needed to remember was that the development of either of these attitudes alone produced a fanatical nationalism. The kind of unity Canada wanted was not an end in itself but a means to a better way of life, both in the material and spiritual sense, and it could only be attained by the ironing out of the difficulties which exist where differing ideas conflict, the speaker maintained.

Some of the factors contributing to misunderstanding between various parts of Canada, such as differing language, intergovernmental relations, varying standards of living and social services, economic and social trends, were brought out by the Misses Isabel Thomas, Hazel Sargent, Ellen Hart and Dorothy Crichton, Mesdames Sanderson-Mongin, T. G. Rayfuse, Alan Campbell and P. Rayment, in their brief contributions to the round table discussion.

REPORTS GIVEN

Prior to the discussion, reports were given of the first year's activities of the Women's Council Table. A growth of membership from 33 to 81 was recorded by Mrs. A. C. Ross in her report, and she also told of the reading lists sent out with the assistance of Miss Clay and the staff of the city library. Mrs. H. Lethaby, recording secretary, Mrs. Wardley Smith, convener of the speakers' committee, Mrs. Alan Campbell, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Clay also gave brief reports.

Mrs. J. L. Gates, on behalf of the Local Council of Women, thanked Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin for her able organization and leadership of the Women's Council Table, and presented her and the speaker of the evening, Dr. Thrupp with corsage bouquets.

Following the meeting Miss Clay was hostess to the speakers and committee members at an informal reception for Dr. Thrupp at her home on Linden Avenue.

Nelda Hildritch Heads Catholic Juniors

Miss Nelda Hildritch was elected by acclamation as president to the Junior Catholic Women's League at the annual meeting held Tuesday evening in the Parish Hall. Other officers chosen were: Vice-president, Miss Nora O'Connell; secretary, Miss Winifred Leavitt (acclamation); treasurer, Miss Clara Krubinski (acclamation); membership convener, Miss Geraldine Murray; publicity, Miss F. McConnell; Girl Guides, Miss Mary Grant; Red Cross, Miss Mona Doyle; social service, Miss Winona Scott.

Rev. Father Penfold presented the retiring president, Miss Agnes Grant, with a bouquet of pink roses and iris, and thanked her for her splendid leadership throughout the year. The War Savings Certificate was won by Miss Clara Krubinski. Father Penfold asked that parents and teachers take further interest in the work of the Girl Guides, in order that this work should be carried on with renewed and even greater zeal.

The sum of $5 was voted to the National Social Service scholarship. Plans were made for a membership tea, which will take the form of a silver tea on Sunday, May 17, from 3.30 to 5.30 p.m., the place to be announced later.

The entertainment committee of the Open Door Spiritualist Church will hold a silver tea in the hall, 215 Commercial Street, Saturday afternoon, from 2.30 till 5.30 p.m.

Mrs. William Gardner, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and carried a bouquet of daffodils and iris. Mr. Robert Hurdie of Victoria, Westminister,

Marvel at Food Here After War-time Britain

The Misses Jill and Judy Humphries see Victoria again.

"I've eaten 30 eggs since we arrived in Canada two weeks ago, and I haven't nearly started," laughed 15-year-old Judy Humphries, attractive chestnut-haired daughter of the late Mrs. Selden Humphries of Victoria, who was killed in a "blitzed" London cafe in an air raid about a year ago. With her sister, Jill, 17, who has darker hair and vivacious eyes, she came across the Atlantic two weeks ago from England and arrived in Victoria earlier this week. The two girls will make their home with their aunt, Mrs. Dola Cavendish, Esquimalt Lagoon. They are granddaughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Duns-muid of Hatley Park.

"I've never seen so much fresh food in my life," added Jill. "When we got to Montreal we nearly fell out of the train window to buy the chocolates and peanuts."

"And bananas and milk and fresh fruit and onions. It's all too wonderful," enthused Judy, with a schoolgirl's delight. "We're all strictly rationed in England. Even clothes are hard to get. We've just been on the most marvelous buying spree."

66 COUPONS A YEAR

"You have to use coupons in England for everything," explained Jill. "You get 66 coupons a year. To give you an idea of what that will buy: it takes 5 for one pair of shoes, 7 for a dress, 14 for a suit, 18 for a coat, 2 for a pair of stockings."

"Cosmetics are hopeless," she went on. "Unless you get the 'black market' stuff, and that is sort of 'bootlegged.' It's made up cheaply of cheap materials and sold without government sanction. And it's not very good."

It is four and a half years since the girls left Victoria with their mother for England. They don't see any change in the city at all, except for a "few more uniforms" and "lots of new houses."

"You'd never know there was a war on, compared to London, where everyone is in it," said Jill.

The girls came across the Atlantic on the Polish steamship "Batory." There was one other passenger ship and two destroyers as escorts. They sighted several submarines on the trip, and sank one, the depth charge from the destroyer causing such an upheaval their ship was lifted out of the water.

DANCED WITH ANNA NEAGLE

Anna Neagle, the British actress who performed in Victoria a year ago for the Navy League, was on the same ship with them, and Judy performed with her at the ship's concert in a tap dance duet. She is very modest about her accomplishments, and when invited to perform at a hostess house in town, demurred as she said she was going to enter boarding school here and did not think she would have time. She attended a school in Wales while overseas, adding that it was quite quiet and safe where she was.

Jill has been working for a mobile canteen unit in London with her mother since the war started, and intends to take up some kind of war work here. Their father, Major Selden Humphries, is in the Home Guards in his home town of Cheltenham.

Their older sister, Joan, is a member of the Motor Transport Corps in London and the brother, Jim, is serving in the R.A.F., stationed somewhere in England. He was married about a year ago.

Weddings

GILBERT-REID

At a quiet ceremony at St. Matthias' Church, Foul Bay, April 24, the marriage was solemnized. Iris Wymond Turner, youngest daughter of Mrs. Reid and the late Harry L. Reid of Vancouver, and granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Walker, became the bride of Sub-Lieut. Verduan Palmer Gilbert, R.C.N.R., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Gilbert of Nanaimo.

Rev. J. Blewett officiated, and the bride wore an afternoon dress of hyacinth blue Elizabeth crepe, with navy accessories, and a corsage of gardenias on her navy blue coat. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. W. S. L. McPhee, wearing an afternoon frock of beige silk crepe, with brown accessories and corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Mr. McPhee was groomsmen.

The groom left immediately for the east and the bride will follow shortly.

BROWN-RILEY

Apple blossom and white lilac decorated the chancel and altar, with posies of flowers marking the guest pews, for the wedding Thursday evening at St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, of Muriel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riley, 482 Lampson Street, and P.O. Brian Joseph Brown, R.C.N., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Brown, Sperling, B.C. Rev. R. C. S. Devenish officiated, and appropriate wedding music was played by Mr. C. F. Boulter.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a white sheer gown with bishop sleeves and long train. Her long veil was caught to the top of her head by two gardenias, and she carried a bouquet of roses, sweet peas, and carnations.

Mrs. William Gardner, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and carried a bouquet of daffodils and iris. Mr. Robert Hurdie of Victoria, Westminister, blue taffeta and a floral doll hat, and carried a Colonial posy of blue and pink flowers. Leading Seaman Alan Jones, R.C.N., was best man and P.O. Clarence Redding, R.C.N., and Leading Seaman, Max Sutherland, R.C.N., were ushers.

About 100 guests were received after the ceremony in Terry's Rose Room, Mrs. Riley wearing a royal blue redingote ensemble, and Mrs. Brown a navy blue costume, both having corsages of pink carnations. Baskets of pink flowers made a pretty setting, the cake having the place of honor on the supper table, surmounted by a silver vase of lily of the valley. The bride's uncle, Mr. B. Brown, proposed the toast, as she cut the cake.

The bride left for a mainland honeymoon in a queen's blue ensemble with beige accessories, and a corsage of carnations. On their return the couple will visit in Victoria for a few days before leaving for Halifax to make their home.

ELY-MCKAY

At a quiet ceremony at Nanaimo, on Sunday evening, April 26, Rev. Dr. William F. Reed united in marriage Kathleen McKay, of Victoria, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pudney, and Mr. Eric Victor Filmer Ely, of Victoria, fourth son of Mrs. L. Ely and the late Stephen Ely of London, England. Mr. and Mrs. Ely, who are spending a brief honeymoon up the island, will shortly proceed to Port Alberni to make their home at the Somass Hotel where Mr. Ely has been appointed manager.

Cork for Dairying

The ban on cork will not affect dairying since sufficient quantities will be released for the manufacture of farmers' milk cooling cans.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Patterson, Cotswold Road, Uplands, returned this morning from Vancouver where they have been spending the last few days.

Miss Ann Ridewood, St. Charles Street, who has been visiting in Vancouver with Mrs. J. O. Willington, has returned home.

Flight-Lieut. Phil. E. Willis, R.C.A.F., arrived Thursday from Halifax, N.S., to spend his furlough with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Willis, Fort Street.

A surprise party was recently held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Eddie, Amphion Street, in honor of the 21st birthday of their daughter, Elsie. Spring flowers were used in the room. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of carnations and forget-me-nots and many lovely gifts. Games and a sing-song were enjoyed. Supper was served, the birthday cake centring the daintily arranged table, with pink carnations and narcissi in crystal vases on either side. Mrs. W. Thompson and Mrs. Watt poured tea and Mrs. W. Atkins, Miss Chrissie Watt, Miss Gwen Dewar helped in serving and other invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dove, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Atkins, Mrs. Lancaster, Mrs. Watt, Misses Gwynne, Down, Mollie Sheppard, Mrs. Lancaster, Lucille McKay, Jane Dewar, Messrs. H. Nicholls, C. Tawney, G. Collum-Bell and J. Henry, all of the R.A.F., Jack Sutton, Walter and Sandy Thompson, Jim and Collie Eddie, Messrs. Peter Thompson and Lorne Atkins.

A large number of members and adherents of Wilkinson Road United Church gathered at the parsonage, Glyn Road, Wednesday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoy of Hastings Street, who are taking up residence in Victoria. The rooms were decorated with spring flowers, the guests of honor, accompanied by Mrs. Buckle, Mrs. Hoy's mother, being the recipients of corsages of carnations. The hymns, "O God of Bethel" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," were sung, with prayer led by Rev. W. Allan. Mr. and Mrs. Hoy were then presented with a purse of money by Mrs. David Lehman, in the name of the congregation. Many tributes of appreciation were paid to Mr. Hoy for his never-failing assistance as member of the official board, and for his practical interest in the Boy Scout movement and in various departments of the church work; also to Mrs. Hoy for her invaluable services rendered as president of the Women's Auxiliary and member of the W.M.S. auxiliary. Refreshments were served by members of the W.A. under convener-ship of Mrs. C. Congdon, the proceedings closing with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

More than 300 guests, including many members of the three forces, danced with evident enjoyment at the party held by the Woolworth-Whites at the Crystal Garden Thursday evening. The dance was the first social function arranged by this energetic group of girls and the proceeds will enable them to carry on their work of sending comforts to the men of the forces overseas and to bombed-out Britons. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Crawford were patrons, and in charge of the arrangements were members of the social committee, including Mrs. Grace McLeod, and the Misses Jackie Youngs, Ann Stevens and Judy Carver. Dancing was enjoyed until 1 and post dances and a musical quiz caused much fun.

A cleverly decorated miniature boat was used to convey gifts of china to Miss Vivian Hannan, whose marriage to Chief Petty Officer Howard Smedley, R.C.N.V.R., will take place in May, when her friends entertained her at a shower arranged by Miss H. Thirlwall at her home, 1029 Oliphant Street, Wednesday evening. Games were enjoyed during the evening, the winners being Miss E. L. Forbes and Mrs. A. Smith. A buffet supper was served later, those present being Mesdames J. Hannan, F. Smedley, M. Florence, C. W. Paulin, C. Forbes, F. Florence, N. Bouchard, A. G. Smith, A. Blake, C. Clarke, L. Mathews, D. Lawson, F. Anderson, W. E. Williams, K. Smith and G. Bowes and the Misses Jane Trotter, Eleanor Peden, Blanche Harris, Elsie Clarke, Kay Paulin, Francis Borde, Myrtle Lyle, Joyce Finch and Lillian Stokes.

Mrs. S. A. Pomeroy, Mrs. A. McBeath and Mrs. G. Scott were joint hostesses at the former's home on Admirals Road, when they entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Muriel Ryley, whose marriage to Petty Officer B. J. Brown, R.C.N., takes place this week. On her arrival, the bride-to-be and her mother were presented with corsage bouquets of pink and white carnations. The guest of honor received her gifts from a beautifully-decorated chest of red, white and blue, inscribed with R.C.N. The evening was spent in music, games and contests, after which refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth, centred with a crystal bowl of red and white tulips and lighted with blue candles in matching crystal holders. The invited guests included Mrs. R. Ryley, Mrs. F. Harvey, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. F. Gray, Mrs. G. Williamson, Mrs. McDuff, Mrs. N. Patterson, Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Griffiths, Mrs. B. F. Day, Mrs. J. Davies, Mrs. A. Herrington, Mrs. A. F. Dodds, Mrs. F. Jenkins, Mrs. Clements, Mrs. Buster Brown, Mrs. G. Banister, Mrs. T. Flannigan, Mrs. T. Flannigan Jr., the Misses Emily Spencer, Mona Garrett, Peggy McBeath, Kay Williams, May McBeath and Thelma Pomeroy.

Candle-lit Ritual At Group Banquet

Nineteen members of Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority were given the degrees and pins in the ritual of "Jewels" ceremony which climaxed the eleventh founder's Day banquet held Tuesday evening in the process Charlotte Room of the Express Hotel. The tables were attractively decorated with the traditional yellow rosebud of the sorority flower and color. Flow tapers in black holders with black and gold place cards completed the decorations.

The two sponsors, Mrs. H. Johns and Mrs. Reed Paigdar, and the director, Mrs. Hammond, were also present at the banquet. A letter from Kathleen Robertson, Kansas City, Mo., corresponding secretary of the international fraternity, was read.

OTTAWA (CP)—Yesterday was a day of surprises for Princess Juliana of the Netherlands. Her Royal Highness was 33 Thursday. She was prepared for this to be her happiest birthday since the war started because her husband, Prince Bernhard, was here to celebrate with her.

But Princess Juliana was hardly prepared for so much excitement. First there were the presents—a whole pile of them on the breakfast table, the kind of present a mother likes best because children's hands made every single one of them.

There was a wobbly string of beads, painstakingly strung by two-and-a-half-year-old Princess Irene. There were crayon pictures that four-year-old Princess Beatrix had drawn. There were tiny bits of embroidery, baskets woven of paper, funny unrecognizable things.

Then, in the midst of the excitement, the telephone rang. It was England calling. Queen Wilhelmina calling to wish happiness to her only daughter.

W.A. to R.C.A.M.C. Tag Day May 16

Mrs. J. D. Hunter and Mrs. Allan Fraser will act as conveners for the tag day to be held May 16 by the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, M.D. 11, to raise funds to provide comforts for corps personnel overseas. Details for the drive were completed at the business meeting held recently at the Y.W.C.A. with Mrs. C. A. Watson presiding. Volunteers are needed for taggers and on tag day they are asked to report with their boxes to headquarters, Harle & Orme Ltd., 712 View Street, instead of relieving each other at the tag corners.

HELP RED CROSS MAYOR APPEALS

Commenting on the Red Cross drive to which Victorians are asked to subscribe $90,000, Mayor Andrew McGavin today says: "I am sure it is not necessary for me to urge Victorians to respond and respond generously to the appeal of the Canadian Red Cross which it being made May 11 to 19.

"The Canadian Red Cross is doing work we all want done and doing it well. "I cannot believe there are any Victorians, men, women or children, who will turn a deaf ear to this appeal and pass by on the other side."

Elderly Woman Nets $12 for Charity

Age is no deterrent to enterprise. This was adequately proved by Mrs. Josephine Cassidy, 464 Garbally Road. Seventy-seven years old, she picked flowers from her own garden and sold them, realizing the substantial sum of $12 for her efforts. This she distributed evenly between the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Red Cross and Chinese Relief.

MR. AND MRS. D. ROY HURDLE

Victoria shares interest in the wedding which took place on April 4, at Olivet Baptist Church, New Westminster, when Miss Judith K. Johnson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Johnson of Shell Lake, became the bride of Mr. David Roy Hurdle, eldest son of Mr. D. R. Hurdle and the late Mrs. Hurdle of Victoria. Rev. J. L. Sloot officiated. April 4 was also the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. L. Comolby, wore a white tulle taffeta gown and a shoulder length veil. She carried a flower bouquet of Easter lilies and gardenias. Miss Selma M. Johnson, who attended her sister as bridesmaid, wore a blue sheer gown and carried a bouquet of daffodils and iris. Mr. Robert Hurdle of Victoria, brother of the groom, was the best man.

South African Curios At Club's Gala Fair

An interesting exhibit at the United Nations Victory Fair at Crystal Garden, May 5, will be the South African hut, in which will be displayed curios of all kinds and a collection of models in stinkwood, a rare native wood, native shields and assegai, pottery, carved ivory and Zulu bead work.

Mrs. Fred Pollard will show colored pictures, "South Africa Calls," showing native life, and shots of Kruger game reserve with all types of wild animals, and "Lure of the Netherlands East Indies," with Balinese dancing and typical architecture.

At Norway one can buy cookies from girls in original peasant costumes. The Free French stall will show Barye bronze sculptures of wild animals, and an old table inlaid with mother of pearl. England will be featured with an old English cottage interior, including an antique Sheraton mahogany enclosed washstand, which belonged to Lord Byron, and a very old turn-over shawl. Small girls dressed in period costume will sell pot-pourri. New Zealand will display the skin of a platypus, an almost extinct animal from Tasmania, with web feet and a duck's bill. A Koala bear will also be featured.

Red Cross Helps War Prisoners

This year, the job of providing food parcels for prisoners of war is destined to become the largest item in the Red Cross budget with the objective 80,000 parcels a week, double the top figure reached last year, states Major Harold Brown, chairman of the Victoria and district campaign committee.

Each parcel costs $2.50, is carried free of charge, or at greatly reduced charges by the authorities concerned and distributed from Geneva by the International Red Cross with which the Canadian society is affiliated. Each parcel weighs 11 pounds.

Several hundred Canadian women volunteers do the packing job in packing centres in Toronto and Montreal, using the latest assembly line principles as developed by large-scale industry. Each parcel contains: Milk powder, 16 ounces; butter, 16 ounces; cheese, four ounces; corned beef, 12 ounces; pork meat, 10 ounces; salmon, eight ounces; sardines, four ounces; raisins, eight ounces; prunes, eight ounces; sugar, eight ounces; jam, 16 ounces; biscuits, 16 ounces; chocolate, eight ounces; salt, pepper, one ounce; tea, four ounces; soap, two ounces.

This is work that the British Red Cross would normally handle but early in the war air raids and food conservation requirements brought a request that the Canadian Red Cross do this job. Under the direction of Norman C. Urquhart, formerly a Toronto broker, an organization was established that last year sent 684,790 food parcels. This includes 105,000 parcels for the Australian Red Cross and 27,500 parcels for the New Zealand Red Cross, both of which are paying for this service.

More than 100,000 cards have been returned signed by men who have received parcels. The campaign to replenish the Canadian Red Cross fund will start on May 11. Victorians will be asked to subscribe $90,000.

No Raise in Price Of Milk in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A survey of Vancouver's larger dairies shows that none of them intends immediately at least to take advantage of authority granted by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to increase milk prices here a cent a quart.

The board announced April 23 dairies in Vancouver and Charlottetown had been given permission to increase milk prices.

Usual 'Accord' Claims

Hitler Meets Mussolini— Pep Talk or Drive?

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—Hitler and Mussolini have reached new accord on all military and political aspects of the war, it was asserted today in a communique disclosing the Axis leaders had spent Wednesday and Thursday conferring at Salzburg, Germany.

It was their first meeting since their countries went to war with the United States last December.

Conversations between the two Axis leaders took place in a spirit of close friendship and the indissoluble brotherhood-in-arms of their nations, said the announcement, issued from Salzburg.

"The meeting resulted in a perfect accord of views on the situation created by the overwhelming victories of the tripartite powers and on the further conduct of the war by the two nations in both political and military spheres," the communique added.

(Japan is the third nation in the group called here "the tripartite powers," but if she was represented at the conference the communique failed to state that fact.)

Renewed expression, it was said, was given to the stern determination of Germany and Italy to ensure final victory by all means in their power.

LEADERS ATTEND

Both the German and Italian foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, were present.

Also attending were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command; Gen. Ugo Cavallero, chief of the Italian general staff; Dino Alfieri, Italian ambassador to Berlin, and Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen, German ambassador to Rome.

Salzburg is in former Austria, almost 100 miles north of the Brenner Pass, where Hitler and Mussolini have staged their past meetings.

Mussolini, accompanied by his retinue, arrived at Salzburg Wednesday morning and was greeted by Hitler as he left his special train, the announcement said.

Hitler then accompanied Mussolini to the guest house placed at his disposal by the German government. After lunching together they devoted the afternoon to political talks in which Von Ribbentrop and Ciano took part.

PEP TALK

LONDON (CP)—Informed British sources said today the purpose of the Salzburg conference of Hitler and Mussolini obviously was to keep the Axis premier in line with the Axis.

"Hitler must keep both ends of the Axis moving in the same direction," one said, "and to do this he must give Mussolini a pep talk."

He added that "Hitler doubtless feels the need to explain his Sunday speech first-hand—for it needs some explaining to the Italian people."

"At the same time," he said, "there is no good reason to hope that Italy can be jacked-out of the war now. What can Italians do with the Gestapo holding clubs over their heads?"

PREVIOUS EVENTS

Others here pointed out big developments usually had followed meetings of the dictators.

The meeting at Brenner Pass, March 23, 1940, was followed by the invasion of Norway within three weeks.

The meeting Oct. 12, 1940, was followed within three weeks by the Italian invasion of Greece. Another meeting June 7, '41, was followed in 15 days by the German invasion of Soviet Russia.

Other meetings of Mussolini and Hitler were at Munich June 22, 1940, to discuss the French armistice; at Florence Nov. 12, 1940, to discuss the Italian-Greek war; and at Berchtesgaden Jan. 25, 1941.

New Zealand Males 35 to 50 Register

AUCKLAND (CP)—The New Zealand government has issued an order requiring all males aged 35 to 50 to register for home guard service.

Robert Semple, Minister of National Service, said registration does not imply necessarily that a man will be selected for service. Committees at various centres will consider the recruit's suitability.

Exemptions include servicemen, permanently unfit men, doctors, chemists, clergymen, policemen, firemen, Maoris, and leaders of the emergency precautions scheme.

Frank Turley Chosen Head of Rotary Club

Confronted with a tie vote in the election of their president, the Rotary Club of Victoria Thursday resorted to lots, and chose Frank Turley, Oak Bay councillor and former manager of the Imperial Oil Company's Victoria office. Mr. Turley was opposed by M. J. Little.

The first four names on the election slate were chosen as directors. They are G. J. Alexander, L. B. Bing, J. A. Craig and R. J. Burland.

The new president and directors will take office July 1. A.C. Lindsay, president, will occupy July 1 the position of immediate past president, succeeding George Yardley.

Retiring directors are R. Armstrong, R. E. Snider, M. J. Little and J. G. Simpson.

Breaks Collar Bone As 2 Autos Collide

Capt. George Decker, Canadian Army Dental Corps, whose car was in a collision, Wednesday night, was reported resting comfortably and making good progress at Esquimalt Military Hospital today, where he is being treated for a fractured collar-bone.

Capt. Decker's car was in a collision with one driven by Violet D. Horne, 1419 Stanley Avenue, a taxi driver for the Blue Line, at the intersection of Quadra Street and Pandora Avenue. Both cars were badly damaged.

Blast-cushioning Glass Exhibited

DETROIT, Mich.—A new blast-cushioning noncombustible glass fibre material for blacking out war production plants was announced here today by Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation.

The material is designed to reduce danger from concussion and to provide protection against the spread of fire caused by incendiary bombs and explosives. Known as Fiberglass OC-9 Board, the new material is composed of fine resilient glass fibres compressed and treated with a binder which gives it sufficient rigidity to serve as a self-supporting fire-resistant material. The material can be faced with glass fibre cloth, plywood or other surfacing materials.

Experience in England has shown that even fairly distant bombing may prove highly destructive to industrial operations by shattering windows, scattering death-dealing fragments and disrupting delicate instruments.

Although the concussion-absorbing qualities of the compressed glass fibres can not provide protection against nearby blasts the resilient light-obscuring and protective materials may prove of definite value by absorbing part of the concussion caused by explosions. The Detroit exhibit is the first showing of the use of glass fibre materials for blacking out existing industrial plants.

New Borden Commander

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of Brig. A. C. Spencer, formerly in command of the 2nd Armored Brigade in the 5th Canadian (Armored) Division, as commandant at Camp Borden, Ont., has been announced by Defence Minister Ralston. He succeeds Brig. New Recreation Centres

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—A residence in Chilliwack is to be fitted as a hut for members of the armed forces. The house was chosen at a meeting of the Chilliwack Valley Service Club and, it is expected, will be furnished and ready for use within a week.

The Sardis Community Hall at nearby Sardis also has been chosen as a recreational centre for members of the armed services and is expected to be in service by the end of the week.

Hongkong Report Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons Thursday it was expected the report of Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, Hongkong inquiry commissioner, would be available shortly.

The chief justice was appointed early this year to investigate the sending of Canadian troops to the Far East colony last year.

Inquiry as to when the report might be expected was made by Rev. T. C. Douglas, C.C.F. member, Sask., who said the United States report on the attack on Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, was made available last Jan. 24.

Two Drown From Skiff Usert Near Chemainus

CHEMAINUS — Mrs. Seth Coll, whose husband and mother-in-law were drowned at near Kuper Island, Wednesday night, when their eight foot skiff capsized, was reported by Chemainus Hospital today to be recovering from the effects of shock and exposure, suffered when she was lost all Wednesday night in the woods, in a frantic effort to locate the Kuper Island Indian School, to summon help.

CHIEF WATERS

Laight his wife prepared dinner while Collins went to anchorage. He forgot the small boat to row back to shore and it to his mother to row it. She did so and both started for shore again. The waters were choppy and the tiny craft capsized. Neither could swim.

At 7 the wife became curious over the unduly long absence as the beach was only a short distance. She went down, saw overturned skiff close to shore and her mother-in-law's body floating in the water 50 or 60 feet offshore. The wife waded and pulled the body in.

Funeral services will be conducted by Mrs. Jones of Nanaimo Spiritualist Society Monday morning. Interment will be made in the family plot, Nanaimo Cemetery.

I've been too worked up being a manager. . .

"I guess you can say the fellows are responsible for this. They've hustled every minute of every game. That's what counts."

Team, members, on the other hand, say it is their respect for Boudreau, their affection for him and their confidence in his quiet leadership that has imbued the Indians with a winning spirit they lacked for several seasons.

Harry Eisenstat, southpaw pitcher, put it this way: "We used to say, 'I got my hits; who won the game?' and now we say, 'We won; how many hits did I get?'"

The veteran Indians are riding a winning streak that put them atop of the American League. Rival Connie Mack of Philadelphia Athletics, baseball's oldest manager, has named the youngest manager.

Sports writers call Lou "another Bucky" and speculate on his chances of winning the pennant.

Lou said he isn't doing all, he means it.

"My g, for example," he said, "hasn't been so good."

By PETE SALLAWAY

FREDDY CLUNK, the affable policeman-golfer, dropped into the office this week just to say that police work was fine and what golf he now plays is for pleasure.

Fred is in the B.C. Police, and is known to the good burghers of the little town of Chemainus as Constable Clunk, upholder of law and order.

Hundreds of avid turf mutilators in Greater Victoria remember his nine-year tenure as pro at Gorge Vale and are convinced that the hilliest course in the northwest just isn't the same without his smile and comments.

Fred left the pro game in 1940 and joined the provincials the next year. He says he finds police work absorbing and really likes it.

"The fellows on the force are a grand bunch," says Fred in all enthusiasm, "and show no hesitation in lending a newcomer, such as myself, a helping hand."

The only championship Freddy ever won was the city caddy's tourney, back in 1925. This annual bag toters' classic was instituted that year and Clunk took it in a walk.

With that behind him Fred got ideas about turning professional, which he did three years later, going to Los Angeles in 1928 to study under the great Olin Dutra, winner of the U.S. Open title in 1933.

Fred stayed there four years. He picked up a lot in the way of golf and also a nice California sun tan which he proudly maintains.

It has always been a fond memory with the former pro that Olin once said to him, while Fred was gently tapping away on the practice putting green:

"I wish I had your putting stroke and touch. I could go places if I putted like that."

To which Fred, a brash young man in those days, answered:

"You can have it. It may be a perfect stroke, but I can't get that ball in the hole—which counts."

Fred came back to these parts in 1931 and took over the pro job at the newly opened Gorge Vale course, and held that spot until he left just about two years ago.

During that time he gained recognition as one of the best golf teachers in the northwest and although he did not turn out any starry players, he probably brought more high handicap players and beginners down to between 8 and 12 handicaps than most pros on this part of the coast.

Jimmy Todd played at Gorge Vale in the early '30's and Fred passed along some good tips and advice to the great southpaw, now a member of the U.S. Army, and formerly pro at the Braidburn Club at Madison, New Jersey, from where Ralph Guldahl sallied a few years back to win a couple of U.S. Open titles and various sundry championships.

In correspondence with Fred, Jimmy has often thanked him for those early tips.

Freddy Painter, one of the city's best-known, although he cleaned up in no tournaments, was another of Fred's products.

Painter was recognized as one of the finest short game players in the city and one of the best in the province.

When Mr. Hitler became obnoxious golf began to slip. People weren't buying clubs and taking lessons as they used to in the days of peace. A pro's livelihood grew uncertain, and so did Fred's.

So, with the responsibility of a wife and two children laying heavily on him, Fred left his calling and eventually became an officer of the law.

He still thinks golf is a great game, and hopes to keep at it as a recreation.

"Last time I played was at Nanaimo in January," Fred remarked, "I had a 79. Par was 66. Pretty poor, eh? But as soon as I make a printable score I'll send it down to you."

Just to prove that Fred can really score, it may be remembered he set a course record at Gorge Vale in 1936. He breezed around the notorious hills, valleys and bends of that course in 64, 10 under par.

Fred never picked up any championships in his career as a pro, although on more than one occasion he wound up in the money in the annual B.C. Open play.

"The trouble with me," said Fred, as he reminisced fondly on those days before the war, "was that I was pretty fair in all departments of the game, but not brilliant in any one. Successful golfers are more or less built along those lines, but in any one of putting, short irons, long irons or wood shots they are brilliant. A successful pro may play like the rest of us in every thing but his putting, but on the greens he can sink them in one put from anywhere, whereas I or someone else would take two. He saves the strokes that pay his expenses and give him a bank account."

Choices for Derby

ALSAB

REQUESTED

This pair of thoroughbreds will pack a lot of the wise money when the field goes to the post Saturday in the annual Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. Alsab was last year's champion two-year-old while Requested ran him a close second for the honors. Alsab will be the number one favorite despite seven straight defeats this year.

Turf Experts Like Devil Diver

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The press box experts today picked Devil Diver to win Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

Of 26 on-the-scene turf writers and radio-announcers who balloted in the annual Associated Press poll 10 chose either Devil Diver or the Greentree Sable entry of the Diver and Shut Out.

Surprisingly enough, although Alsab has been beaten in his last seven races he got the "place money" with six voting for him to win, three of them from the home-town of his owner Al Sabath.

If the ballots were decided on would stay in his barn in case of an off track.

FINAL FUTURE ODDS

The final future book odds still had Alsab—beaten seven times in a row this season—the betting choice, adding another dizzy doing to the collection that makes this the "daffy" derby of all times.

At the same time, game little Requested, who came to town all unheralded Wednesday, in spite of his important Wood Memorial and Famingo Stakes victories, zoomed up in the current wagering almost alongside the Chicago hope simply by stepping the Churchill Downs strip for the first time with a neat 1:54.35 mile and an eighth workout.

Requested kicked off the last quarter in a snappy 24.45.

The result was that, although the local betting oracles still had Alsab at 3½ to 1 in the futures, the chances were the derby fans would make either Requested or the Whitney entry of Devil Diver and Shut Out the betting choice when the barrier springs.

Barrett Stays With Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Rookie Johnny Barrett, the "flying Irishman" with the Boston accent whose speed caught the eye of Frankie Frisch, became a full-fledged member of the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday at a cost of more than $20,000.

Attracted by Barrett's propensity of hitting triples as well as his fleet legs, the Pirates bid against stiff competition to get him on option from Hollywood of the Coast League last September. The agreement was that if Johnny was taken on permanently May 1, Hollywood would receive additional cash and a player.

The Bucs announced Thursday the southpaw outfielder would stay "for keeps." The club hasn't decided what player to offer Hollywood, but if none is accepted by the Pacific Coasters, a third bundle of cash will be paid instead.

"He has speed, a good arm and fine prospects," manager Frisch said of the 24-year-old native of Lowell, Mass.

PRO REC NEWS

Word has been received from Vancouver that classes will continue through the summer season. Groups at present are held at the Crystal Garden.

On Tuesday afternoon a "keep fit" class is held at which instructions in exercises, folk dancing and ball rhythms are given. These classes are open to the public and new members will be welcomed. No class will be held May 3 because of the United Nations victory fair, but will be resumed May 12. Swimming classes are held every Thursday afternoon at 2:30. These sessions will continue only as

Camilli On Rampage

Slugs Dodgers Home

There was quite a ruckus about Dolph Camilli during the winter month baseball fans will remember. By accident or design Brooklyn Dodgers obtained waivers on the stocky slugger who led the National League in 1941 in home runs and runs batted in and was voted the most valuable player.

Perhaps fearing a holdout struggle and feeling that Camilli had reached his peak, president Larry MacPhail of the Dodgers discussed deals for him with New York Yankees and both Boston clubs. A trade might have been made too, if New York Giants hadn't bought Johnny Mize from St. Louis Cardinals before MacPhail made up his mind whether he wanted him or not.

Now there is another rumpus going on around Camilli. This time the veteran first baseman is causing it with his big wal club.

After being ill for five days and out of uniform, Camilli returned to the line-up this week in Brooklyn's important series with the Reds and hit four home runs in three games to help the Dodgers sweep the state and run their spring surge to 24 victories in 17 games.

Thursday the Dodgers were trailing 8 to 6 at the end of five innings. In the sixth Camilli hit his fifth homer of the season. In his eighth he singled the tying run across and in the ninth again homered, this time with two on, to win the game.

Cleveland continued to burn up the American League by crushing Philadelphia Athletics again 8 to 1 to extend its winning streak to 11 games. This, incidentally, equalled a streak the Tribe achieved last year from April 25 to May 5, inclusive.

New York Yankees regained second place by pouncing on St. Louis Browns 3 to 0 behind the four-hit hurling of big Ernie Bonham, who racked up his second shutout and third straight triumph of the young season.

Early Wynn pitched Washington Senators to a 1 to 0 decision over Chicago White Sox in a breathless mound duel with old Ted Lyons. The latter allowed only four hits to Wynn's five, but one of the Nationals' bingles was a triple by Stan Spence in the first inning, and he came home on an infield out. It was Chicago's seventh straight loss.

Boston Red Sox aided Detroit Tigers 8 to 3 with Dick Newsome pitching six-hit ball, and Ted Williams shaking his slump for a homer.

Howie Pollet, southpaw sensation of the National League when he came up last August, captured his first 1942 victory with a four-hit effort that brought St. Louis Cardinals a 2 to 1 upset over New York Giants. Pollet himself drove in three runs.

The Phils backed up Frank Hoerst's nine-hit pitching with four home runs by Dan Litwiler, Roe Northey, Nick Eiten and Benny Warren to beat Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 3.

COAST LEAGUE

Los Angeles is well up there in second place of the Coast League baseball standings, but the Angels just can't seem to play like near champions in their current series with San Diego.

Perhaps it's the intense rivalry of the two southern California clubs that makes the fourth-place Padres baffles the Angels. Thursday night the Chicago farm club had to call on the services of relief hurler Ken Rafensbergh to pull them out of the hole for a 4 to 3 win from the Padres.

Unfavorable playing conditions kept the other league team idle.

Whip Oilers With Same Referees

MONTREAL (CP)—The battle over the officiating a thing of the past, Victoria Dominoes today needed only one victory to be crowned Dominion senior basketball champions for the fourth time in less than 10 years.

Dominoes handed Montreal Oilers a 40 to 36 beating Thursday night in the third game of the Canadian best-of-five final and thereby took a 2 to 1 edge in the series. The fourth game will be played here Saturday.

Dave Nicol, manager of the west coast team, who had protested over the officiating during the second game, expressed himself as "satisfied" with the referees, Chuck Mallis and Frank Ulley, of Montreal, following Thursday night's battle. Ulley and Mallis refereed the second tilt.

Ronnie Wilson, who paced the Oilers when they ousted Trenton R.C.A.F. flyers from the play-downs in the eastern semi-finals, was the leading scorer on the floor. The red-headed forward, a sergeant in the Canadian (Active) Army, snapped in 10 field goals and made good on four of six free shots awarded him for a total of 24 points.

Victoria's Norm Baker was second in scoring with 15 points while third was Coach Art Chapman of the western team with 11.

COMMAND PLAY

Dominoes went into the lead near the start of the game, and although Oilers came close to catching up with them, they never lost their lead.

Wilson opened the scoring for Oilers shortly after the starting whistle with a long shot, but two quick baskets by Art Chapman gave Victoria a 4 to 2 advantage.

Wilson tied the battle up again with another long basket but free throws by Baker and Nicol sent the western quintette ahead 6 to 4.

Play swayed from one end of the floor to the other with the scoring split about evenly until baskets by Art Chapman and Jack Mottishaw gave Dominoes a 17 to 11 lead. Scoring was divided evening from then on and as the half-time whistle sounded Dominoes led 24 to 18.

Art Chapman and Norm Baker shot Victoria into a 28 to 18 edge as the final half got under way but a basket and two free shots by Wilson made the score 28 to 22 for Dominoes. Wilson scored two more baskets after Art Chapman counted one for Victoria and field goals for the Oilers by Johnny Ferraro and Duddy Bloomfield brought Montreal to within two points of Victoria.

The Montreals kept close to the Dominoes but a field goal and free shot by Baker and a basket by Art Chapman made the score 37 to 32. Wilson and Bloomfield snapped in short shots for Oilers but field goals by Chuck Chapman and Baker ended the scoring with Dominoes leading 40 to 36.

Bloomfield missed two free shots and Edwards missed one for the Montreal five near the end of the tilt.

FIGHT CANCELLED

Fred Apostoli had to cancel Saturday night's fight with Buddy O'Dell at Ridgewood Grove because the navy wouldn't give him leave.

Collecting Salvage

A cavalcade of salvage trucks, above, outside the Luxton School last Sunday, when members of the Victoria Salvage Corps visited Luxton and Metchosin districts and collected 75 pounds of waste material. In the foreground are four boys of the school, with the principal, J. H. Downard, who went with the trucks from farm to farm in search of salvage and gave valuable assistance. Left, members of the Victoria Fire Department, Aft. Leason, George Rice and Percy Graves, help to sort salvage in their off-duty time. This task would be made much easier if householders would segregate rubber, glass bottles, silver paper, etc., into separate containers, and would flatten cardboard boxes and cartons and tie newspapers Salvage Corps, into tight bundles, it was pointed out at Tuesday evening's meeting of the voluntary workers of the

New Pipeline To the Brain

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—

The brain has acquired a muscle to help it think.

This phenomenon is a surgical feat which creates a new pipeline of blood to the brain and restores normal circulation which has been stopped by blood clots or hardening of the arteries.

The victims of such brain conditions are those usually described as having "a stroke" and the entire right or left half of the body is paralyzed. If they walk at all, it is with great difficulty and they cannot talk or eat normally. Until now they have continued to exist only half alive until death.

Dr. Frederick E. Kredel of the Medical College of South Carolina conceived the operation and has performed it on five selected patients. He reported it for the first time at the meeting of the Southeastern Surgical Congress in Atlanta.

Because the brain itself is insensitive to pain, the operation can be done under local anesthesia of the scalp.

FOUR SMALL HOLES

Dr. Kredel opens up the scalp and peels the temporal muscle—the one which attaches to the lower jawbone and aids in chewing and talking—from the skull. He then makes four small holes in the skull just above the ear and with an electric saw cuts a small "window" into the brain.

When the brain is exposed, he cleans out the area if necessary and then with a series of quick, fine stitches attaches the temporal muscle to the dura, or outer covering of the brain. A small portion of the skull is then sawed away to accommodate the lower part of the muscle, the skull cap is replaced and the scalp sewn back.

BRITAIN'S BATTLE FLEET GUARDS LIFELINE OF THE EMPIRE—On constant guard along the lifelines of the British Empire are the big ships of the British navy. Among them, as pictured in this striking photograph is King George V., one of the newest and best battleships in the world. She was photographed from the deck of an accompanying aircraft carrier. The navy, always on the alert, scored a smashing success in the Mediterranean last week with the sinking of four big Italian transports, rushing war material to Tripoli. They were sunk by two British submarines. All were heavily laden, the admiralty announced.

$2 Syrup for a Lifetime

Man May Eat Grass, Leaves and Wood Soon

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—A chocolate-flavored syrup of germs that, according to preliminary tests, enables human beings to eat grass, leaves and wood if other food supplies fail was announced by Dr. Gustav J. Martin of the Warner Institute for Therapeutic Research, New York City, at the meeting of the American Chemical Society here.

The germ syrup, which would accomplish the desired result for a lifetime at a cost of $2 per person, is considered particularly suitable for paratroops and other army units. It seems to be the American research scientist's answer to reports that the Germans have developed a similar procedure for enabling their soldiers to live on wood, leaves or grass.

For civilians as well as soldiers, a germ syrup to supply vitamins for a lifetime is also on its way, if Dr. Martin's experiments prove successful. Certain bacteria, or germs, of a type that do not cause disease, are known to manufacture various of the B vitamins. The cow does not have to eat B vitamins in food because her rumen contains the bacteria that manufactures them. Dr. Martin's experiments are designed to develop similar germ vitamin factories in man's intestines.

TESTS IN NEW YORK

Dr. Martin's work on developing germ vitamin factories and the chocolate-flavored germ syrup for digesting grass, leaves and wood has been done on laboratory animals. Preliminary tests on humans have been started in New York hospitals, but have not gone long enough for conclusive results to be reported.

The idea of creating germ vitamin factories in man's body to make him independent of food sources of vitamins or even of vitamin pills resulted from the discovery that one of the B vitamins, pantothenic acid, can stimulate the growth of those intestinal tract germs which synthesize another B vitamin, inositol. In past experiments when pantothenic acid was left out of the diet, the symptoms that resulted, such as hair greying and hemorrhage of the adrenal glands and so on, were attributed to the lack of pantothenic acid. But because there was no pantothenic acid in the diet, there was also an unsuspected deficiency of inositol. It was this unsuspected lack of inositol that was responsible for some of the symptoms attributed to lack of pantothenic acid.

CURE GREY HAIR

Greying of the hair, Dr. Martin reported, is actually due to pantothenic acid deficiency and inositol will not cure the condition. The adrenal hemorrhages, however, are due to the inositol deficiency.

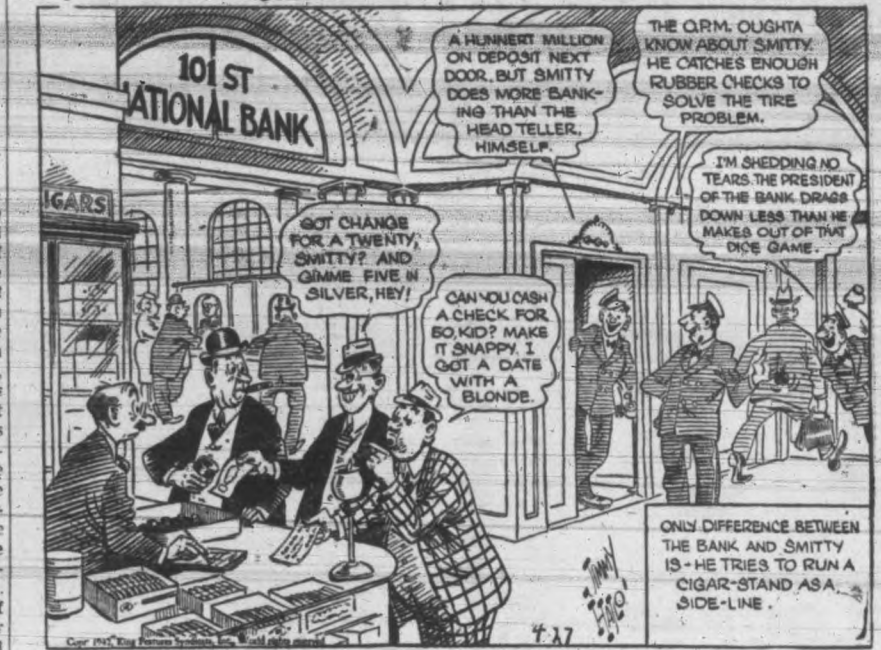

Lack of pantothenic acid, Dr. Martin pointed out, is not the only dietary lack which will produce grey hair. Restoring hair color lost through lack of pantothenic acid may be accomplished by restoring pantothenic acid to the diet. Hair color may also be restored, as has previously been reported, by doses of another vitamin para-aminobenzoic acid. This vitamin acts to "cure" grey hair, Dr. Martin is now convinced, through its action on bacteria in the intestinal tract.

that costs of production should be lower.

RIBOFLAVIN CONCENTRATED

A discovery that should have the doubly desirable effect of reducing the cost of one of the most important vitamins and at the same time finding a use for what is now one of the most useful dairy by-products was reported to the meeting by Dr. A. Levinton of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Levinton has found that whey is being condensed to the point where crystals of milk sugar begin to form, the vitamin riboflavin is strongly adsorbed on them. A concentration of as much as 300 micrograms of riboflavin per gram of milk sugar has been prepared in the laboratory, the speaker stated.

SAVE OIL

The enemy Axis, sadly lacking in oil, manages to creak along on its destructive path despite its oilless state, Dr. Gustav Egloff and P. M. Van Arsdell of the Universal Oil Products Company Research Laboratories told the meeting.

"At the end of 1941," they stated, "it was estimated that there were a total of 107,225 compressed gas vehicles which released approximately 2,553,000 barrels of liquid fuels, and a maximum of 373,143 producer gas, vehicles in use in Europe.

which saved about 7,780,000 barrels of oil fuel. Approximately 13,200,000 barrels of benzol and alcohol were produced on the European continent in the same period and 233,000 barrels of shale oil also had been produced. Sweden and Spain planned to produce greater quantities of shale oil from their undeveloped resources.

"The cataloguing of the other substitutes shows that man has availed himself of animal, vegetable and mineral products to run his motor vehicles on all the continents of the world. The only energy givers so far untapped for direct use in a motor are sunlight, an atomic power, and the chances are when human ingenuity can rise to the occasion, even these too will be used."

A.R.P. Practices

James Bay Area Under 'Attack'

Following the staging of a series of 10 district practices, the first set for next Wednesday evening in James Bay, Victoria's A.R.P. organization should be absolutely efficient, Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, said today.

All divisions of the A.R.P. organization and their auxiliary forces, will take part in the district practices.

Twelve "incidents" have been planned for the James Bay practice which will begin at 8 in the evening and continue for an hour or more. Although there will be no official blackout, James Bay householders are being asked by wardens to practice blackout precautions and to retire to their basement shelters for the duration of the practice.

Major "casualties" will be taken by the city A.R.P.'s three ambulances to St. Joseph's Hospital where doctors will report on the efficiency in which ambulance and first-aid workers have handled the cases. Three auxiliary ambulances will also take part in the demonstration.

"Casualties" suffering from gas contamination will be treated at the decontamination hut at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Dr. L. W. Cromwell will have charge.

City engineering branches will take care of decontaminating "gas bombs." They will also attend to "broken" water mains and "damaged" to public property.

Victoria fire department, auxiliary firemen and rescue squads will be in attendance to deal with high explosive and incendiary bombs. City police will rope off "damaged" areas.

The Red Cross will be represented at the district office and will notify next of kin of persons "injured" by bombs. Members of the Women's Ambulance Corps will have charge of the six ambulances. St. John Ambulance workers will assist at first aid.

Part of the squad of 10 motorcyclists attached to the city A.R.P. will assist in communication. They will be under the direction of Richard Shanks. High school boys trained for the purpose will serve as foot messengers.

Members of the Canadian Auxiliary Territorial Service will assist in administrative and clerical duties at the central control room.

The whole practice will be under the supervision of K. J. Oldfield, James Bay district warden. Capt. D. J. Proudfoot will act as an adviser at the district control room.

With a practice in one A.R.P. district every Wednesday evening, it will take three months to complete the 10 practices. Following the completion of the series, A.R.P. sector leaders within the individual districts will stage practices to maintain their efficiency, Inspector Bishop said.

Prince Rupert To Have Council

Burnaby, Fernie and Prince Rupert will, commencing next January, be operated by municipal councils after having had provincial government commissioners in charge for the last few years, because of financial difficulties.

"These three will be given complete autonomy," Premier Hart said today.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said Prince Rupert had been paying its way for the last three years. Fernie and Burnaby were also in good financial shape.

People of Prince Rupert, Burnaby and Fernie will go to the polls next January to elect councils and school boards.

No provision has been made for election of boards of police commissioners as the three municipalities are being policed by the provincial police, under agreement with the Attorney-General. Until the December elections the provincial commissioners will carry on.

Alaska Governor On Short Visit

Two governors and a premier Thursday evening discussed various highway routes to Alaska through British Columbia.

At a dinner at Government House, Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward, Governor of Alaska Ernest H. Gruening, and Premier John Hart talked unofficially of the highway now running through this province to link the United States with the great territory in the Far North. It is tremendously important from a defence viewpoint.

Governor Gruening flew here from Vancouver in a chartered plane. He said his trip was a "social visit" to call on the governor of his nearest Canadian neighbor. Mr. Hart met the governor and drove him to town from the plane base at Esquimalt.

Arthur Dixon, deputy minister of public works, and Jas. W. Carey and Glen Carrington of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, also attended the dinner at Government House.

Victoria Fireman Takes War Course

Six firemen will be sent from B.C. to Palo Alto, Calif., for an intensive two-weeks' course at the chemical war service training school of the U.S. War Department, W. C. Mainwaring, B.C. Civilian Protection Officer, announced today.

Mr. Mainwaring said Vancouver, North Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, Prince Rupert and Trail will each send one man.

The course will give the men training in dealing with gas bombs as well as fire damage caused by bombs. The Dominion government is paying 50 per cent of the cost of sending the men to the school.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, has, by order-in-council, been appointed acting Attorney-General during the absence in Ottawa of Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C.

Building Drop Accentuated Here

The slump in civilian building was clearly indicated in the city today, with release of figures for the first four months of 1942. The total was below the aggregate for April alone in 1941.

During the month ending Thursday 51 permits were issued in the city for work valued at $54,486. That figure raised the values since the beginning of the year to $232,659 for 181 undertakings.

In April alone last year 92 projects were listed at total cost of $250,574, boosting the cumulative total for the first four months of 1941 to $821,565 for 348 jobs.

During April this year five dwellings only were listed at a total value of $14,100. In addition one $2,300 workshop project was started.

OAK BAY

Decline in building activity in Oak Bay, not only during the past year, but also during the past month were noted with the release today of Oak Bay building figures for April.

A total of 17 permits for building valued at $28,499 were issued during April as compared with 19 permits for building valued at $36,096 during March of this year, and 33 permits for building valued at $111,064 during April, 1941.

Similarly the number and value of permits for homes has decreased. Eight permits for homes worth $24,050 were issued last month, nine for homes worth $31,200 during March and 23 for homes worth $79,500 during April, 1941.

The number of permits issued and the value of construction so far this year falls far behind building activity up to April 30, 1941. Only 68 permits have been issued this year for building worth $111,758. Last year 108 permits for construction worth $312,275 had been issued up to this time.

ESQUIMALT

Six building permits for construction valued at $22,095, were issued in Esquimalt during April. Only one permit was for a dwelling, valued at $2,000.

In April, 1941, 10 permits were issued for construction of an estimated value of $21,500. Nine of the permits were for construction of new dwellings of an estimated value of $21,300.

2 Offices Entered; Money, Watch Taken

Two offices on the second floor of the Kresge building were entered and some contents were stolen, either Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

From the office of A. L. Lee, photographer, $6.85 in bills and silver was taken and two silver dollars. A gold watch, valued at $35 was also missing.

Some coppers were stolen from the office of William T. Overstall, optometrist. A piece of celluloid or a pass key was used in opening the lock at Lee's office. Detective Louis Callon attended.

The John Dempster who was recently charged with obstructing an officer of the law is not the John Dempster of 1953 Waterloo Road, neither is he in any way connected with John Dempster of 1940 Ernest Avenue.

May Ask Services To Haul Own Coal

Coal dealers here today discussed informally proposals to ask the various services to handle deliveries for themselves as one means of relieving the labor problem.

They pointed to the fact the army, navy and air force all have trucks and abundant manpower. They are more leniently treated than civilian business in rubber and gasoline supply and the men are young enough and strong enough to handle loads without difficulty.

Should the services assume responsibility for collection of their own coal they would find no hurdle in the way of supply, dealers explained. The problem is not one of securing coal here, but of moving it from scows to homes and plants. If merchants were relieved of the necessity of making deliveries to the army, navy and air force, they would have a better opportunity of meeting some of the orders which are piling up on their desks.

A suggestion was also put forward that certain forces could expedite delivery and avoid rubber and gas wastage by having scows tie up at their respective wharves, lessening the haul distance.

Qualicum Beach To Be Village

Qualicum Beach is being incorporated as British Columbia's latest village, Premier John Hart said today.

H. J. Welch, Geo. Lane and E. L. Boulton have been appointed commissioners.

Qualicum Beach until now has been unorganized territory.

'Careless Talk Costs Lives'

Silence on War Secrets Urged by Naval Officer

A campaign of silence was urged upon the public Thursday night by Lieut. M. Armstrong, R.C.N.V.R., in an address to the Victoria Kinsmen's Club in the Empress Hotel.

"We have among us" said the officer, "the skillful, highly trained, well-educated enemy agent; we rub shoulders with him and we don't know who he is. There are many who are willing to sell information to the enemy and there are those who have access to confidential information who are careless of their position of trust."

Lieut. Armstrong said it was hoped to "sell" the idea of silence to the service clubs and to the public generally. Careless talk, he said, assists the enemy by disclosing information of value to his intelligence service, providing a clue to its source and telling him whether or not events of military significance are about to happen or have already occurred.

"The movement of ships, troops, planes or men" he told the club, "presents a picture of the scheme of things as a whole."

He showed how scraps of apparently insignificant information were fitted by enemy agents into a pattern of fact which provided the Axis powers with a complete picture of Canada's total war effort.

"There is no doubt in the world," Lieut. Armstrong said, "that this type of information gets back to the enemy."

"Shipwrights know the armament, speed and vital equipment of the ships they build. When a ship is damaged at sea or equipment is hit in action, those repairing it know the details of the damage. That type of information gets around, for the enemy is anxious to know of structural defects.

"In one week, we found that 95 per cent of the ships at Victoria had been photographed. Most of the commercial-finishing firms, God bless them, turned the prints over to the intelligence services."

Authorities, the naval officer said, are not trying to discourage honest, open discussion but if the public knew any vital information it should not be handed about.

"The checking of careless talk may save the lives not only of those dear to you," he said, "but also the lives of hundreds of others. If we can bring home to ourselves the results of careless talk we can make a tremendous stride forward in checking it on this coast."

Fat Babies Walk As Soon as Thin Ones

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The popular belief that small, slender babies begin to walk at an earlier age than the heavy, roly-poly baby finds no support in scientific data, according to a survey made on 349 infants by Dr. John Gray Pegman and Dr. Reginald A. Higgins, reported in the current issue of the American Journal of Orthopsychiatry.

The development of sitting, standing and walking has no relation to weight or body build, according to this new survey.

Letters to the Editor

FARM HELP PROBLEM

Farmer organizations have sent resolutions to the government showing the need of asking for the release of experienced farm help for seeding and harvesting.

We read in the daily paper, dated Friday, April 24, 1942: "Cannot grant leave to seed."

Surely it is not necessary to point out to Defence Minister Ralston that while men must be trained they must be first fed. If there is no land sown, there will be no crop mown. If there is no help to seed, there will be no food to feed the armed forces or their wives and families—which seems to be the responsibility of the so-called civil worker or individual producer.

The farmer has not been conscripted or called, only by that inward call of his reason to do his utmost. Members of the government have said he is doing wonderfully well across Canada in the matter of food production, the most urgent need is food. What are we doing about it, when hundreds of farm helpers are going into other work to get the bigger dollar and shorter hours?

There are rewards in the field of agriculture that money cannot buy, if one's sense of vision is broad enough to see them, and one's power of appropriation is big enough to enjoy them.

C. H. WILLIAMS.

REV. PHILLIPS BROOKS

The late Phillips Brooks of Trinity Church, Boston, was afterwards Bishop of Massachusetts. He entered upon a memorable ministry, and a bronze statue outside Trinity Church commemorates his service to state and people. Those who were his contemporaries could hardly forget his charm of character and his spiritual influence. His great ideal was service, and, preaching in Westminster Abbey, he declared: "In our modern thought the nation is the making place of man." Today the English-speaking countries, Britain and America, fight side by side to preserve justice and freedom. He was a champion of freedom. "No man," he said, "has come to true greatness who has not felt in some degree that his life belongs to his race and that what God gives him, He gives him for mankind." Like all great men he was gentle and humane and was an outspoken defender of animals.

After centuries of time he was saddened by the sign that Christianity was far from its perfection. Phillips Brooks was one of the great souls who lived his religion and at the base of his statue are inscribed the words: "Preacher of the Word of God, Lover of Mankind."

STRATHCONA PARK

Did you know that the "scorched earth" policy is about to be applied to Strathcona Park? Logging has already commenced along the only entrance way there is to the park, namely, the Campbell River, between Upper Campbell and Buttle Lake.

Railroad is being built to the foot of Buttle Lake and is to be extended along one side of the lake to the park line. Within a year all of the north end of the lake will be black ruin and a fire hazard to all of the timber in the park.

The Province of British Columbia has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on Strathcona Park. It is a priceless asset.

If all of the timber grants outside of the park are to be logged, it would seem that in public interest the logging company should be compelled to hold sacred a strip of timber at least 200 feet wide along each side of the river and around the edge of the lake.

Eavesdrop on Nazis

LONDON (CP) — A further method of spying on the German people has been evolved by Hitler. The BBC reported that microphones have been concealed on streets and in public places where conversations between Germans can be overheard by Nazi authorities.

The people have been warned that if they become angry or express themselves too freely they may find authorities have been listening in. The BBC said.
